'Close and Critical Study'

"Close and critical" study of the over-all Eisenhower military manpower program will begin next week. Presiding will be Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The President wants to reduce the Army.

The generals want it increased.

Hearings will be closed.

There is good reason for secrecy.

One of the Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Radford, is known to favor 'preventive war"—which is a polite phrase for carrying an attack to the enemy but describing it as defensive. He has been the chief prop of Sen. Knowland's "war" group, which, seemingly, is attaining more and more influence with the President, a fact which dismays many.

It is understood that Adm. Radford's theory is that strategic bombing will be enough.

Apparently he has convinced the President, because his statement is that no land troops and no atomic weapons will be used in the Chinese crisis if it comes to doing battle.

But others of the staff, notably Gen. Ridgway, feel very strongly that bombs will not be enough. They were not enough in Korea, even when we had air superiority. In fact, they were not nearly enough.

Knowledge

Gen. Ridgway is a serious-minded soldier who came to his present job from Korea via the NATO command in Europe. He is familiar with war. He knows how uncertain is Europe's defenses. He faces the fact that China now is the largest land force in the world. He knows there is no help coming to our side in Asia.

He is of the opinion that finally, when the strategic bombing is done, the familiar figure with the BAR, the bazooka, the carbine, the mortars, the grenades, and the 50-caliber machine guns, will have to move into the territory and occupy it. He may have to wait until it has been decontaminated of atomic radiation. But, eventually, he will have to go there.

Therefore, he opposes the reduction in the armed strength of the nation, as do his associates. It is reported on good authority that he has written his old friend, now the Commander in Chief, a strong personal letter of protest.

Sen. Russell, a quiet man, has said only that he seriously questions the proposal to cut the armed strength. This he believed before the Chinese crisis flamed up. It therefore may safely be assumed he now feels it would be folly to reduce in the face of such danger.

Headlines featuring Chou En-lai and his demands on the U.N. pushed to the inside pages a bit of news which otherwise would have been on page one. This was the action by Congressman Carl Vinson's House Armed Services Committee. The draft was extended to June, 1959—four years—by a vote of 32 to 0.

Exemptions

Those with very special labor skills can be withdrawn from military duty.

It is almost certain that young scientists also will be allowed to continue study. An amendment to that effect is being studied. There is a shortage of some 30,000 scientists in the nation. This projects a critical shortage for the future when the world will be moving deeper into the mystery of nuclear fission, of jet engines and the first of "baby space ships." We are not more than 10 years, maybe fewer, away from an atomic-powered aircraft which can remain aloft for a period of days or weeks without refueling. We cannot afford to fall behind in the production of scientists, though we well may do so because of our present national suspicion and fear of any educated person.

There is a strong feeling that the administration, temporizing with the politics of Formosa, which tragically is deeply embedded in our domestic politics, isn't planning beyond defending Chiang's Formosa. There must be planning well beyond that and it may be the Congress will do some of it—by maintaining our armed strength.

Eden Warns Reds Against Invasion Of Chiang Islands

By DREW MIDDLETON
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, Feb. 4—Sir Anthony Eden today warned Communist China that any attempt to take offshore islands in Formosa strait which "undoubtedly" are part of the Peiping regime's domain would endanger peace and security.

This warning was accompanied by a formal definition of the British government's views on the sovereignty of Formosa. Neither assumption of control of the island by the Chinese in 1945 nor establishment of Chiang Kai-shek's forces in military occupation made the territory Chinese, Eden declared.

The foreign secretary's caution to the Peiping regime and his statement of the government's position on Formosa were the most significant developments of a day in which Britain and her partners in the Commonwealth strove to find a way out of what India's Prime Minister Nehru called "a very great world crisis."

The conference of Commonwealth prime ministers devoted the whole of their morning session to the Formosa situation. It was suggested at this meeting that Nehru with the concurrence of other Commonwealth governments approach Premier Chou En-lai of Red China and try to learn on what grounds the Communists would accept a peaceful solution.

No decision was taken on this suggestion which will be discussed again at an early meeting.

Sir Winston Churchill and the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand, Robert G. Menzies and Sidney Holland, conferred with their military advisers on

Slay Suspect Escapes Here; Lie Test Due

A suspect in the shotgun slaying of a Barrow County farmer escaped Friday in Atlanta. He had been brought here to undergo a lie detector test, police said.

The almost decapitated body of John H. Roberts, 59, was discovered last Saturday in a wooded area near his home at Statham.

GBI agents and Barrow Sheriff Delmar Smith questioned a number of persons, but were unable to find anyone who saw Roberts alive after he left home early Saturday to go rabbit hunting.

A Negro living in the same community was brought to State Patrol headquarters to undergo the lie detector test. Officers said the suspect leaped from the car and fled on Confederate avenue, Southeast.

Bloodhounds were brought from the Bellwood prison camp and Union City as Atlanta police, Barrow County authorities and GBI agents began a search for the man, identified as Joe Fleming.

Members of the Roberts family became alarmed when the farmer's two dogs—a beagle and a pit bulldog—returned home without their master. They discovered the body lying beside Roberts' loaded gun and a hunting bag containing a rabbit which he evidently had killed.

Navy Plane Faults Bring Buying Cuts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas told Congress today the Navy has canceled contracts for about 1,000 planes, costing over one billion dollars, because they "could not perform to specifications."

He told a House Armed Services investigating subcommittee that this is the major reason why the Navy has reduced requests for new air funds next year from $1,900,000,000 to $750,000,000.

'WAS NOT HAPPY'

The subcommittee summoned Thomas and his top aides to explain the secretary's previous testimony that he "was not happy" with some phases of plane procurement. Legislators wanted to learn if the Navy now is getting airplanes fast enough.

Thomas said in an open hearing that aircraft now are coming off production lines and are being delivered to the fleet without being held up by construction changes.

In closed-door testimony, Thomas said stepped-up production for the Navy, prompted by the Korean War, had produced some unforeseen production difficulties, delivery delays and planes with "unsatisfactory performance."

Thomas revealed that Navy units in Korea were so "seriously short of attack type aircraft" that "losses of this type in some months of 1952 were greater than new deliveries from the factories."

NEW SYSTEM

Now, he said, the Navy is operating under a new system of putting into production only fully tested aircraft, so when they are delivered "to operational squadrons they are as nearly combat ready as possible."

"If another 'Korea' should occur tomorrow," he added, "we would follow a very different policy . . . from that of 1950."

This would be "to accelerate production rates of proven models now coming off the production lines and keep these models in high volume production" while speeding developments to provide "replacements of high-performance models."

N.Y. Executive, Linked to 'High' Coca-Cola Post

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun said today that reports were current in Wall Street that William E. Robinson, head of the public relations firm of Robinson-Hannagan Associates, Inc., would be named to "a high executive post" with the Coca-Cola Co.

Neither Robinson, a close friend of President Eisenhower, nor H. B. Nicholson, president of Coca-Cola could be reached to confirm the report.

Girl Is Killed by Truck Here; 4 Hurt in Traffic

Injuries in Atlanta traffic Friday killed a kindergarten student and hospitalized a retired schoolteacher with severe injuries, police reported.

Five-year-old Ouida Angelene Gallman died Friday night at Crawford Long Hospital of head and chest injuries received when she was struck by a truck at 11:30 a.m. on Browns Mill road, SE. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gallman, 2080 Browns Mill Rd., she was on her way home from school at the time.

Mrs. Ruby McCorkle, 67, former teacher who lives at 249 Elizabeth St., NE, was severely injured by a hit-hun driver at Austin avenue and Elizabeth street, NE. She was hurled 15 or 20 feet by the impact. The driver was a Negro man, Ptl. R. E. Avery and R. W. Gilstrap said they were told.

Mrs. McCorkle was treated at Grady Hospital and later transferred to St. Joseph's Infirmary.

The Gallman fatality, 10th for the year in Atlanta, compared with six at the same time last year, was the second involving small school children within four days.

Tuesday 5-year-old Ronald Ronald Wayne Williamson of 1062 Capitol Ave., SW, was killed and a classmate, Viva Elizabeth Herndon, six, of 32 Weyman Ave., was injured by a truck on Capitol avenue.

Mrs. Annie Mae Dearing, 24, of 349 Troy St., SE, had gone to the Lakewood Heights School Friday to pick up her child and en route home noticed the Gallman child walking along the sidewalk, Ptl. C. F. Vickers relat-

Southern Natural Gas Wins Rights in S.C.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—A power commission examiner ruled today that Southern Natural Gas Co., Birmingham, Ala., should be allowed to sell natural gas to South Carolina Generating Co., Columbia, S. C., for use as boiler fuel.

The decision of examiner Emery J. Woodall will become a commission order unless a review is initiated within 30 days.

Navy Viking Rocket Climbs to 144 Miles

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N.M., Feb. 4 (AP)—The Navy's 12th Viking rocket attained an altitude of 144 miles today in a firing to investigate the so-called thermal barrier to space travel from earth.

A similar Viking fired last May attained a record altitude of 158 miles for single-stage rockets. Viking No. 12 was the second best "shot" in the series which began here May 3, 1949.

Viking No. 12 carried electronic instruments to collect data on the thermal barrier.

HEART SURGERY MAY SAVE GAINESVILLE BABY
Mother Holds 5-Month-Old Patti Floyd

PARENTS STAND BY FOR HOOKUP

Borrowed Heartbeat May Give Baby Life

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Heartbeats borrowed from a parent may mean life for a 5-month-old child suffering from a rare and usually fatal heart defect.

The borrowed heartbeats are used in a recently developed operation which will be performed upon Patti Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Floyd, of Rte. 9, Gaineseville.

Patti, now a patient at Emory University Hospital, was born with a hole in one of the partitions of her heart.

Surgeons at the University of Minnesota Hospital have corrected defects of this kind, however, by linking the blood stream of the child with that of an adult during an operation on the child's heart.

The child's heart is emptied of blood—enabling surgeons to operate on a "dry field"—and the adult's heart takes over the job of pumping blood through the child's body.

Patti's pretty 25-year-old mother said either she or her husband would serve as their baby's "heart" during surgery.

"The operation is our only hope," she explained simply.

Doctors at Emory University Hospital diagnosed Patti's heart defect when she was three weeks old. They said they have not yet made arrangements for Patti to have the operation at the University of Minnesota Hospital. They are treating her for an infection, and want to make sure she is strong enough to undergo the necessary surgery.

The Floyds, whose first child died after a premature birth, thought that Patti, their second, was normal at first. Patti weighed six pounds, 11 ounces at birth—but she weighs only nine pounds, four ounces now, at five months.

"She developed a fever," Mrs. Floyd said, "and began breathing rapidly. Her appetite was poor, and we soon knew something was wrong."

Patti, a winsome, blue-eyed baby who wrinkles her nose when she smiles, already has been hospitalized four times.

But her mother and father, a plumber, take hope from the successful operations already performed on several other youngsters, including a Marietta child.

The 20-month-old son of Sgt. and Mrs. C. U. Partridge Jr. of Thomaston also has the same defect and is scheduled to undergo surgery at the University of Minnesota Hospital. The people of Upson County have donated about $3,000 to finance the Thomaston boy's expensive operation and hospitalization.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd hope to raise money for the surgery somehow.

"She can't go on like this," Mrs. Floyd said. "The operation would be very serious . . . but if it would help, it's what we want."

Those Cold Rains Due Here Today

Cold rains that were supposed to come to Atlanta Friday, and didn't, will arrive sometime Saturday afternoon, the weatherman said.

And they'll be here through Sunday, he added.

The official forecast for Atlanta and vicinity calls for "mostly cloudy, with little change in temperature" Saturday and Sunday, with occasional rains both days.

Saturday's temperatures are due to range between 32 and 42. Sunday a spread of 34 and 48 is expected. Extremes here Friday were 34 and 47.

Ike Is Reported Planning Visit To Thomasville for Quail Hunt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower reportedly is considering flying to Thomasville, Ga., next week for some quail shooting as the guest of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

The White House declined to deny or confirm the report. Asked about it, press secretary James C. Hagerty hesitated before replying:

"I have nothing to say."

Eisenhower visited Humphrey's plantation estate at Thomasville a year ago to hunt quail. If the President travels there again it was reported he likely will leave Washington about Thursday and remain over the weekend.

The White House announced two weeks ago Eisenhower temporarily will limit his trips to those taking him no more than two hours flying time away from Washington.

Still Hopeful Of Okay by Successor

High-ranking American officials were worried Friday night about the future of German rearmament as a result of French Premier Mendes-France's fall.

But they were still hopeful that his successor would carry on the project to win French ratification of the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany. Diplomatic experts said Mendes-France's ouster by no means kills chances for getting final French approval of the plan.

The State Department had no immediate comment.

Officials noted, however, that Mendes-France will remain in charge of the government as a caretaker until a new government can be formed. While he is in office, even as caretaker, he can be expected to press for German rearmament.

These experts said Mendes-France fell primarily because he had created personal enemies, not because those who voted him out of office oppose the plan to arm Germany again.

They said this means any new government likely will favor German rearmament and will push ahead with the plan just as Mendes-France had.

In Bonn, the fall of Mendes-France shocked and dismayed the West German government and officials privately expressed fears it might be a death blow for rearmament pacts.

It was believed the Bonn government would not react officially until it sees which way the political winds will blow in the new French government crisis. Any reaction was expected to be cautious in the aim of "not rocking the boat" in this critical moment.

Wage Pact Vote Today At Lockheed

Some 3,000 Lockheed workers are expected to vote Saturday on a new contract which provides for an estimated $2 million a year in increased pay and other benefits.

If approved by the union membership, some 12,000 aircraft workers at the Marietta plant will find from six to eight cents an hour more pay in their envelopes beginning Monday.

They will also share in about $250,000 pay retroactive to Dec. 20, 1954.

The tentative agreement, which also provides for increased benefits under the group insurance plan for surgical and hospital care, was reached Friday by representatives of Lockheed and Lodge 33 of the International Assn. of Machinists, AFL.

The small Lockheed guard force union—Lodge 615, International Assn. of Machinists—voted overwhelmingly in favor of the contract Friday night.

The new contract would extend to March 31, 1957, with a provision that it could be reopened a year earlier for discussion of certain economic matters.

The negotiated agreement, which does not cover an additional 3,000 "white collar" workers at the Marietta plant, is also subject to approval by the Air Force and the board of directors of Lockheed.

Adams, Key In M'Carthy Fight, Quits

By ANTHONY LEVIERO
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—John G. Adams, counselor of the Army, and a principal in the Army-McCarthy dispute, resigned today. Secretary Robert T. Stevens accepted the resignation. It will become effective March 31.

Adams and Stevens have been linked repeatedly in reports that they would resign as a result of their clash with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). And repeatedly they have denied the report, the last time on Jan. 17.

The resignation of both officials has been sought by Sen. Potter (R-Mich), who was a member of the Senate subcommittee which investigated the dispute.

Adams presumably will return to the private practice of law. However, he said today he has no plans beyond a long vacation in Florida.

In his letter of resignation to Stevens he said he had told Stevens in October 1953, when he was appointed, he would stay in the position for a year.

Adams went on to say he had agreed to extend his tenure until this spring. He added:

"I believe that the projects which have occupied my attention are now well advanced, and I therefore would like to leave my post and have my resignation effective March 31, 1955."

Stevens said he accepted the resignation in "the same spirit in which you have offered it" and expressed his appreciation for Adams' "loyal and steadfast support."

A combat veteran in World War II, Adams began his government service in 1947 as chief clerk of the Senate Armed Service Committee.

Loses Fight On African Home Rule

PARIS, Saturday, Feb. 5 (AP)—Premier Mendes-France, who had juggled votes masterfully in a successful bout for power for 7½ months, was thrown out of office early today.

The French National Assembly finally refused him its confidence on his North African policy but his defeat actually resulted from an accumulation of rankled feelings in Parliament.

The official vote was 319-273.

AUDACIOUS TACTICS

The 47-year-old premier, whose audacious political tactics had gained him the enmity of a growing circle of political leaders, headed the 20th government since the World War II liberation of Paris.

His downfall at home came after he had won wide popularity abroad on a visit to President Eisenhower and a speech to the United Nations in New York in November.

In office just two weeks short of eight months Mendes-France left two monuments to his rule — an uneasy armistice in Indochina and the still unratified Paris pact for the rearmament of West Germany. The pact replaced the ill-fated European Defense Community he was accused of killing earlier.

MANY RUMBLINGS

The vote on a question of confidence which cost him his office came after a three-day debate on North African policies. In three previous debates on North Africa in his administration Mendes-France won out.

He lost today not only because he had negotiated with independence-seeking Tunisian nationalists, arousing the fears of French colonials in North Africa, but also because of a generally disgruntled feeling in the Assembly over many issues.

Among the disgruntled were the

30 Hired To Tighten State Tax Collections

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Thirty additional auditors and accountants have been hired by the State Revenue Department to tighten up on tax collections.

This was disclosed Friday, as the Griffin administration moved toward collecting more taxes from present laws and toward economizing in state government.

Gov. Griffin announced that the State Problems Study Commission will make an economy investigation of state agencies before looking for new tax sources.

The governor frowned on a proposed legislative committee to study state agencies for efficiency and economy.

"It is unnecessary to have two studies of the same problem going on at the same time," Griffin asserted. "The Problems Study Commission will be primarily interested in looking at the operation of the state agencies and at their requests for funds. The commission will make recommendations as to whether the agencies are using present funds efficiently and whether they need additional funds or less money."

Rep. Bill Ivey of Newton County has introduced a resolution seeking a Senate-House committee to make an economy study.

State Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams revealed Friday he has placed the additional accountants and auditors on the job of checking the sales tax and income tax collections. He expects their activities to increase the collections.

One special auditor has been employed to check on the sales and income tax collections from retail liquor stores, Williams said.

Discount India as West's Ally, South Africa Premier Advises

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Feb. 4 (AP)—Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom declared today the Western powers might as well cross off right now such Asian nations as India, Pakistan and Ceylon as potential allies in any future war against communism.

The 61-year-old Nationalist leader of this race-conscious British Commonwealth country said he is convinced the United States and Britain will fail in efforts to win over the Indians, Pakistani and Ceylonese.

"The best they can hope for is the neutrality of these Asian states," Strijdom told this reporter.

He drew an imaginary map on his desk as he spoke of Western efforts to keep the three nations—all members of the British Commonwealth—out of the Red orbit.

His argument: Red China dominates the Indian subcontinent strategically and, for that reason alone, its inhabitants are not likely to line up against the Communist bloc. And Indian self-interest goes along with natural bonds of color.

"Anyway, aside from, a few tribes or groups," Strijdom said, "the Indian people are not fighters."

(India currently heads a neutralist Asian bloc which Prime Minister Nehru is trying to expand. Neighboring Pakistan has a military alliance with Turkey and a mutual defense pact with the United States. Ceylon, an island nation of less than nine million off India's southern tip, has never figured largely in world military affairs.)

The South African Prime Minister criticized India on another count. He accused India of aligning herself with Negro campaigns to drive the white man from Africa, backing "all kinds of antagonism against white rule." Indian agitation and Communist agitation are realities in Africa, he said. He expressed belief "stricter control" of backward African communities is needed to counteract the effects.

Strijdom took over political leadership of South Africa last Dec. 1 upon the resignation of Dr. Raniel F. Malan, 76. Like Malan, he backs the Nationalist policy of racial segregation and white supremacy.

Strijdom spoke quietly and quickly. Occasionally he gestured with fingers and fists as his feelings rose over some of the issues that have divided the 2½ million whites and 10 million nonwhites in South Africa.

Among the highlights were:

On democracy in South Africa: Without question this is a democratic country, Strijdom maintained, even though Nationalist governments, like others, have placed "certain limitations on individuals . . . in the interest of society as a whole."

On the racial policy's aim: "The whole idea of separate development (described by the Afrikaans word apartheid) is that each group should have the opportunity to advance as far as it can—without fear, unfair competition and without threatening the institutions or way of life of the others. This is the realistic way to avoid frustration. We in South Africa, particularly on account of the numerical disproportion between whites and nonwhites, cannot afford the type of frustration which an integrated society such as New York has imposed upon its nonwhite citizens."

'Can't Get to Church' Is No Longer Excuse

"Going to church."

Chiang Note On Quit-Isle Bid Awaited

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa, Saturday, Feb. 5 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek was reported today readying a reply to a Washington request that he decide soon on quitting the Tachens with U. S. 7th Fleet help because the fleet cannot be expected to stay in a state of readiness indefinitely.

The nature of his reply appeared to hinge on what is to be done about defense of Quemoy and Matsu, offshore islands even closer to the Red mainland than the Tachens.

REPORTS DENIED

Nationalist spokesmen said last night there was no truth to reports that Chiang already had rejected a proposal to quit the Red-threatened Tachens 200 miles north of Formosa and 20 miles off the mainland.

These reports apparently stemmed from a news conference yesterday at which a Defense Ministry spokesman said the Nationalist garrison on the Tachens would "fight to the death if attacked."

Authorities said this statement carried no implication of any high policy decision to reject the American offer of U. S. 7th Fleet help in an evacuation.

Augmented by a fifth aircraft carrier, the Midway, the fleet carried into a second week its role of "hurry and wait."

The newly assigned 18th U. S. Fighter-Bomber Wing also was ready, with its Sabrejets flying on other than combat missions with Nationalist planes. Visiting the wing, Gen. Earl E. Partridge, commanding the U. S. Far East Air Force, said yesterday that Red China and Russia have a numerically superior force of 3,000 in the Far East but "in combat we could take care of them."

REQUEST TO CHIANG

Reports were that the Washington request for Chiang to decide on quitting the Tachens was handed him by U. S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin.

Nationalist quarters insisted it was their understanding the United States had given assurances that Quemoy and Matsu would be defended. These quarters said, however, the United States was balking at a publicly announced commitment.

U.S. Presses Bid To Try Lattimore

Will Ask Reversal Of Judge's Ruling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—The government announced today it will press its fight to bring Owen Lattimore to trial on a charge that he lied when he told a Senate committee he never had been a follower of the Communist line or a promoter of Red interests.

U.S. Atty. Leo A. Rover said he will ask the U.S. Court of Appeals to reverse a decision by Judge Luther W. Youngdahl dismissing that key count against the 54-year-old Far Eastern affairs specialist.

Youngdahl threw the charge out Jan. 18, saying it was vague and obscure. He said that to require Lattimore to stand trial on the charge would "make a sham" of the Sixth Amendment, which provides that "the accused shall enjoy the right . . . to be informed of the nature and the cause of the accusation."

Lattimore, who insists he is a loyal American, has been in trouble with the government since he testified three years ago before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Since he was first indicted in December, 1952, Lattimore has been on leave of absence from his teaching job at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

Lattimore had been scheduled to go on trial Feb. 14, on lesser charges, but Judge Bolitha J. Laws of the U.S. District Court continued the case indefinitely pending the new appeal.

U.S. Bolstering Quemoy In Face of Red Shelling

TAIPEH, Saturday, Feb. 5 (AP)—Chinese Nationalists aided by U.S. military experts were revealed today to be rushing the reinforcement of defense on Quemoy at the south end of the island outpost line.

Communist artillery shelled Quemoy Friday in an evident attempt to knock out new fortifications. A Nationalist communique said the defenders returned the fire and silenced the enemy guns.

Twelve Americans were reported stationed on Quemoy which, with Matsu, the Nationalists want to hold even if Tachen is evacuated. A high U.S. official predicted last week that the Americans would help defend Quemoy and Matsu.

The possible clue to intentions regarding Quemoy was among these developments in the war over the offshore islands:

1. Nationalist bombers blasted Red invasion concentrations around the Tachens. They reported "heavy damage" on nearby Yikiangshan and the destruction of two Communist ships and probable sinking of two more.

2. High Chinese sources predicted a break in the decision on evacuating Tachen within a day or two. Foreign Minister George Yeh was expected to announce in Washington that the decision had been made and to ask U.S. assistance in the withdrawal.

3. Lt. Gen. Bruce Clark, U.S. Army commander in the Pacific, was scheduled to arrive here today. He was expected to confer with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and top U.S. military men in this area.

4. Another shipload of 180 refugees from the Tachens arrived in Formosa. The Nationalist LST was chased by four Communist junks, which were turned away by gunfire. A U.S. destroyer stood by.

Booming Car Industry Can't Fill Its Orders

DETROIT, Feb. 4 (AP)—The automobile industry, keystone of the nation's economy, reported today it is selling cars as fast as it can make them even though production is at record levels and this is the off season for automobile sales.

Spokesmen for the big three producers—General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler—reported they have been unable to build up inventories for the big spring selling season despite record production.

Some makes reported they have not even been able to make cars fast enough to meet demand. Plymouth division of Chrysler Corp. said its backlog of orders now is 24 per cent greater than it was in November when the 1955 models went on sale.

NEAR RECORD

The industry turned out 164,295 cars this week, according to Ward's Automotive Reports, a reliable trade agency. That was just 581 short of the all-time record set in 1950. Ward's said that to meet February production schedules the industry is planning to hit a record rate of 166,500 cars a week this month.

The industry normally uses the winter months to build up dealer supplies for the traditional spring car-buying surge. January traditionally is the 10th worst month for automobile sales, with sales running some 25 per cent under April and May.

Production in December and January was the highest ever recorded for those months. The high production brought reports the industry was building up supplies and even some reports it was "stockpiling" cars in event of labor trouble when the long-term automobile contracts with the CIO run out late in May.

SALES PUSHING

But industry spokesmen reported the industry still has not been able to get ahead of current sales to build up for the spring rush.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, told newsmen in Miami that GM's cars "are going into the hands of the public at substantially the same rate as we are producing them despite the very high rate of production currently."

R. R. McNamara, general manager of Ford division of Ford Motor Co., said dealer inventories have dropped 33 per cent below last year at this time. He said Ford is working employes at maximum overtime schedules but is failing to build up inventories.

SELLING ALL

A spokesman for Chrysler said divisions are having trouble meeting dealer orders and are finding sales for all cars.

William J. Bird, vice president in charge of sales for Plymouth, the corporation's low-priced big seller, said retail sales in January were the highest in history, 63 per cent higher than a year ago. But he said despite high production schedules new orders ran 35 per cent ahead of shipments during the month.

U.S. Expects Peace Despite China Moves

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—High American officials said today they still do not expect war between the United States and Red China despite menacing new Communist moves off Formosa and a "state of war" declaration by Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek.

These officials said flatly they do not believe the Peiping Reds "intend to risk war with the United States." They added, however, the war risk will be eased if a cease-fire between Reds and Nationalists can be arranged.

But the State Department doused cold water on behind-the-scenes moves for an international "Geneva-type" conference that would by-pass the United Nations for "side street" efforts to settle the Formosan crisis. The behind-the-scenes moves were spurred by Red China's refusal yesterday to attend U.N. cease-fire talks.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said any further effort to get Red Chinese delegates here for cease-fire talks on the Formosa crisis would amount to a "surrender to Communist power." He also denounced any conference similar to that held in Geneva, Switzerland, last year which resulted in the partitioning of Indochina.

4 Fires' Toll At 3 Million; 400 Routed

CARBONDALE, Pa., Feb. 4 (AP). More than 400 persons were left homeless, and damage mounted to nearly $3,000,000 today from fires in four northeast Pennsylvania communities.

In another fire near Reading, 42 children were led to safety by their teacher as fire gutted the one-room Trostle Grade School.

Blocks of buildings in the business sections of Carbondale and Shenandoah were leveled in major fires which broke out in near-zero weather. A dozen dwellings were leveled or badly damaged in another general alarm fire at Shamokin, while at Tobyhanna, McKeever's Hotel, a historic landmark, was destroyed.

The Carbondale fire, worst of the four major fires, was brought under control within a few hours but then erupted again into a major blaze. Fire Chief Joseph Healey estimated the damage at between $1,000,000 and $1,750,000.

Rubinstein Held 200,000 Boeing Shares

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—Draft-dodger Serge Rubinstein controlled about 200,000 shares of Boeing Airplane Co. stock worth $15,000,000, when he was slain by a mysterious assassin last week, it was reported today.

Rubinstein's holdings in the defense-vital airplane firm were described in a copyrighted article in Business Week magazine, which said he acquired them through Stanley T. Stanley, his friend and broker, and registered the stock in corporate names between 1947 and 1948. At that time Rubinstein was in a federal prison serving 30 months for draft dodging.

The report of Rubinstein's interest in Boeing came as police appeared bogged down in their efforts to crack the mystery surrounding his slaying last Jan. 27. The 46-year-old financier was found bound, gagged and strangled in the master bedroom of his Fifth avenue town house.

Molotov Call Hints Soviet Uneasiness

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today called in the envoys to Russia of Britain and India in a sudden move that Western diplomatic sources said apparently reflected Soviet uneasiness over the Formosa crisis.

Moscow radio announced that Molotov "received" British ambassador Sir William Hayter and "also received" India's charge d'affaires. The broadcast did not report whether the two diplomats were received together or separately.

A British foreign office spokesman said he had not been notified in advance of the meeting.

Authoritative diplomatic sources said that the meeting undoubtedly was called at Soviet initiative since it appeared the British and Indian envoys were not under instruction from their governments to see Molotov.

Writer Advises Massed India Military Power

NEW DELHI, Feb. 4 (AP)—One of India's top military writers suggests his country must develop an army based on massed manpower following the pattern of Russia and China.

"It would be more expedient for the Indian armed forces to be organized with emphasis on massed manpower rather than on imported arms and ammunition," wrote Lt. Col. D. K. Palit in the Army Weekly. This is an official publication, but an editor's note says Palit's view is not necessarily government policy.

Eden Warns Reds Against Drive To Take Over Offshore Islands

defense problems in the Southwest Pacific. This is the area of immediate Commonwealth concern should fighting in the Formosa Strait intensify and spread.

Attention, however, centered on Eden and Nehru. The British foreign secretary is seeking feverishly for a formula that will end the fighting and, simultaneously, create conditions under which a permanent settlement can be achieved. Nehru is the lonely, aloof figure marked as the West's contact man with the East.

For the first time since he arrived in London a week ago the Indian prime minister appeared in public tonight. Addressing 3,000 Indian students he told them "nothing is more important" than the Formosan crisis.

As background music to the diplomatic maneuvering there is a mounting rumble of Socialist denunciation of British and United States policies in the crisis. With party leader Clement Attlee in the van the Socialists will hurl a dozen barbed questions at Eden Monday in the House of Commons.

Victor Collins, Socialist member of Parliament, fired a ranging shot today when he asked the government to instruct Hong Kong to refuse facilities for repairing and refueling U. S. Navy ships. This, Collins said, would "avoid involving this country in incidents arising from the presence of the U.S. fleet in Chinese waters."

A brisk "no sir" was the government's answer. But the question is the first of a barrage expressing Socialist disquiet with government policy and fear that this policy may involve Britain in war.

Eden's written reply to the Socialist question defined British attitude to Formosa's sovereignty.

The intention of the Cairo declaration to restore Formosa to China was never fulfilled, Eden said, because of difficulties arising from the existence of two entities claiming to represent China and differences among the powers over them.

When at the direction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur Chinese forces took over control of Formosa from the Japanese this was "not a cession nor did it in itself involve any change of sovereignty," Eden wrote.

"The arrangements made with Chiang put him there on a basis of military occupation pending further arrangements and did not, of themselves, constitute the territory Chinese," the foreign secretary continued.

Under the Japanese peace treaty, Japan renounced all claim to Formosa and the Pescadores but this did not transfer sovereignty of the islands either to the Communists or the Nationalists, Eden declared.

"Formosa and the Pescadores are, therefore, in the view of Her Majesty's government, territory the de jure sovereignty over which is uncertain and undetermined."

In referring to the Communist government's right to offshore islands Eden identified these as "the Nationalist-held islands in close proximity to the coast of China" but specifically exempted Formosa and the Pescadores from this category.

Nothing approaching solution appeared in the Commonwealth meeting. However, it was agreed generally, that diplomatic representatives of the Commonwealth should urge moderation in Peiping, Moscow and Washington.

J. S. Blick Rites Set For 4 P.M.

Funeral services for John S. Blick Sr., 69, a founder and president of the Boys Club of Atlanta and owner of several Atlanta bowling alleys, will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at Spring Hill.

Dr. William Garrison and Dr. William Crowe Jr. will officiate. Burial will be in Westview Cemetery.

Mr. Blick, who lived at Roswell, died Thursday night in an Atlanta hospital.

Serving as honorary escorts at the funeral will be elders and deacons of the Roswell Presbyterian Church, members of the Kiwanis Club here, the Royal Order of the Jesters and directors of the various Atlanta branches of the Boys Clubs.

FROM WASHINGTON

Mr. Blick came to Atlanta from Washington, D.C., in 1932. His first bowling alley had been established earlier here in 1928. At one time he operated six in the city.

He, with Jesse Draper, Dr. David Marx and the late Henry Heinz, founded the Atlanta Boys Club in 1938. Mr. Blick was its first vice president.

Retiring from active business in 1944, he had since devoted much of his time to the affairs of the Boys Club.

He was treasurer of the Roswell Presbyterian Church and a trustee of Hillside Cottages at the time of his death.

WAS KIWANIAN

He was a member of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club, and had been chairman of its underprivileged children committee for nearly 20 years.

He was also a member of the Royal Order of the Jesters, the Shrine, Scottish Rite and Gate City Lodge No. 2, F&AM, and the Atlanta Variety Club. He was a lifetime honorary member of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Evelyn Marshall Yeatman of Haymarket, Va.; a daughter, Mrs. F. A. Meatyard of Bethesda, Md.; a son, John S. Blick Jr. of Atlanta; three brothers, Samuel S. Blick, of Brunt Mills, Md., Wallace D. Blick of Clarksville, Md., and Edward A. Blick of Washington, D.C.; a sister, Mrs. Caroline B. Morgan of Washington, D.C., and four grandchildren.

Paris Ousts Mendes on Africa Vote

wine-growers, displeased over the Premier's milk vs. champagne campaign, the old friends of EDC, and many who feared the effect of the Premier's economic program to which he now was turning.

He had not got around to spelling out this program—which was his chief interest——but in the past he has advocated a program of austerity, of higher taxes, of cracking down on speculators, and of weeding out high cost, inefficient industries.

In his final speech to the Assembly, Mendes-France had warned that its decision was "the most serious that has been taken in months, perhaps years" and that on it "perhaps rests the future of France."

His defeat, he said, would be interpreted abroad "as an abandonment by France of its initiative."

He outlined what he said were only two possible policies in North Africa—"the policy of reform and of progress" or the policy of "repression and force." He bitterly accused the Catholic Popular Republicans of supporting a policy of local autonomy for Tunisia when they were in office and of preparing to knife him now for carrying out the same kind of policy.

ROLE IN EDC

The Popular Republicans have been bitter at Mendes-France for his role in killing EDC which would have included Germans in a five-nation, one-uniform army.

Mendes-France said that when he came into office, after the Popular Republicans had controlled the Foreign Ministry for years, he found 5,000 political prisoners in North African jails.

"Now there are but a few hundred and they have been convicted or charged with specific crimes," he declared.

"In Morocco we found many political prisoners who had been in prison for two to four years," he added.

STRANGE MAJORITY

He drew laughter when he charged the Popular Republicans with trying to organize a "strange majority" against him that could only be formed by including the Communists.

Defending his negotiations with independence-minded Tunisian nationalists, he denied that he contemplated surrendering the country. What he had in mind, he said, was an "indestructable" union of France and North Africa.

Truck Kills Girl Here; Train Hurts 3 in Car

ed. He said Mrs. Dearing stopped to give the child a ride.

The child asked to get out in the 1900 block of Brown Mill road, explaining that her mother had planned to go downtown and then meet her there, Mrs. Dearing said. She said she cautioned the child to watch out for a passing truck.

Evidently the child was watching a city Sanitary Department truck, Vickers related. He said she pushed by Mrs. Dearing and ran into the path of a truck driven by Jack G. Young, 38, of 2728 Browns Mill Rd. No charge was placed against Young.

Three persons were injured in a train-auto collision at McCalls Crossing, W. Whitehall and Lee Sts., SW, at 10 a.m.

Ptl. R. V. Paschal said Mrs. Madge Doris Fischel, 30, of 2581 Beecher Dr., SW, stopped at the crossing to allow a Southbound freight train to cross and then pulled across the tracks the freight had used.

A passenger train, the Central of Georgia Flamingo, was following the freight. Paschal said a car in front of Mrs. Fischel was waiting for a traffic light. Mrs. Fischel jumped out to ask the driver to move on. The driver at that moment moved, Paschal said, but the train struck before Mrs. Fischel could get back to the car.

Mrs. Katherine Medlin, 21, of 1406 Elizabeth Ave., SW, attempted vainly to move two children from the car before the train struck, Paschal said. Mrs. Medlin was treated at Grady Hospital for injuries to the head and back; her one-year-old son, Walter Richard Medlin, suffered bruises and Mary Jane Fischel, three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Fischel, received possible leg fractures.

Quit Drinking, Learn Germans, Wives Told

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany, Feb. 4 (AP)—An Army psychologist has told a group of Army wives that they ought to quit drinking cocktails and playing bridge so they can get to know the Germans better.

More than 100 officers' wives received a polite dressing down in a lecture by Lt. Col. Frederick A. Zehrer of New Britain, Conn.

In a talk before the Army Women's Club here, Zehrer also lambasted the wives as "psychologically immature," guilty of pulling their husbands' ranks, and so culturally isolated that they might just as well be living "in Podunk, U.S.A."

Bookkeeper Here Is Found Fatally Shot, Holding Gun

Robert Lee Fruit Sr., 50, of 481 Ashby St., SW, was found fatally wounded Friday at a Bankhead Highway wrecking concern, where he was employed as bookkeeper, police said.

Dets. M. W. Blackwell and M. A. Johnson said Mr. Fruit was seated at a desk in the office at 2745 Bankhead Highway with a 32-caliber pistol in his right hand. They added he had a bullet wound in the right temple.

Admitted to Grady Hospital at noon, he died two hours later.

Surviving are a son, Robert L. Fruit Jr. of Atlanta; mother, Mrs. E. W. Fruit of Hiawassee; two sisters, Mrs. Norman Brown of Vienna and Mrs. Clarence Young of Hiawassee, and three brothers, Charles W. and Harry Fruit, both of Atlanta, and Capt Furman Fruit, of the U.S. Air Force.

Private graveside services will be held Saturday.

Atlantan Given 20 Yrs. in Rifle Slaying at Cafe

A 29-year-old Negro was sentenced to 20 years in prison Friday on voluntary manslaughter charges in a Nov. 20 rifle slaying at a cafe.

A Fulton Superior Court jury found Willie Frank Hunley of 469 Fair St., SW, guilty on those charges in the death of Otis J. Lester, Negro. Judge Jesse M. Wood imposed the maximum sentence.

Witnesses said the shooting followed an argument at a Mitchell street cafe during which the victim "teased" Hunley. They said Hunley went home after a rifle, returned to the cafe and shot Lester three times.

JUNACHI ENTERPRISES

ACCOUNTING is an important part of the operation of any business . . . and Junior Achievement Companies are no exception. Here Irrel Finch, Phyllis DuRocher and Joyce Granger, who are associated with JUNACHI ENTERPRISES, check the ledger books. Junior Achievement members like these young people are learning first-hand the principles of sound business management. JUNACHI ENTERPRISES, sponsored by Cluett, Peabody & Company, Inc., manufactures and sells Tiny Tread, a step-stool for the home.

Many of tomorrow's future leaders will come from today's Junior Achievement programs. In recognition of this nationwide movement, this week has been proclaimed National Junior Achievement Week. In Atlanta, more than 1,000 teenage members of J. A. this year are learning about business by forming and operating their own miniature companies.

Typical are the groups shown here who have raised capital by selling stock and now are manufacturing and selling such useful products as stepstools, planters, ashtrays and lamps. At the end of the current business year, they will liquidate and pay their stockholders—usually with a profit of from 5 to 20%.

Junior Achievement members learn by doing. They and their volunteer advisors deserve everyone's support . . . because Junior Achievement is helping to build leaders of the future . . . and is fostering the American way of building through business . . . the greatest system for a better America.

NOVELTY STEELCO

MANUFACTURING a product or rendering a service is the basic function of Junior Achievement Companies, just as any other business. Josephine Lynn, C. E. India Is Last Hope For Peace in Asia

Red China has, by its typically irresponsible attack on Prime Minister Churchill, removed any possibility that he or his government may be able to set up a cease-fire for the Formosan area.

This again plainly indicates that if there is to be a cease-fire, Red China intends to have it initiated through neutral India, which country she has been trying to move closer and closer to her position. Prime Minister Nehru has from the beginning accepted the Communist Chinese premise that Formosa is a Chinese problem, not American. But, he also has been honest enough to say the United States cannot simply abandon Chiang Kai-shek. Therefore, he has offered his services, and that of his government, in "any effort to obtain peace."

There is grave danger of war because Red China views Formosa from an almost entirely emotional viewpoint. Little rational discussion is possible. If a limited war develops out of defending the Tachens' evacuation or in protecting other islands, let none think it will not be a substantial war which rather quickly would take on the proportions of Korea, save that initially the emphasis would be air and naval, and not ground forces as in Korea. Once such a limited war is begun it will grow, not diminish.

There is evidence the United States is attempting to hurry Chiang Kai-shek in evacuation of the Tachens. There also is evidence he isn't to be hurried. He might determine that he must have war.

India remains the last best hope of creating a cease-fire discussion. We held one on Indochina outside the United Nations. If India succeeds we will again have to determine whether to insist on a United Nations supervision, or once more step outside it.

Georgia GOP Had Best Stick to Present Course

Georgia's Republican Party again is confronted with a fight led by the anti-Eisenhower faction that was unseated at the 1952 GOP Chicago convention. The contest currently is centered in the Eighth District.

Patronage, or lack of it, is the issue. The "out" faction seems to feel there isn't enough pie. The "in" faction has been trying to build a party which won't have too much "pie" smeared on its face—as did the GOP in Georgia during most of the years before Eisenhower.

The secretary of the Central Committee was quoted as saying National Chairman Leonard Hall had given the nod to the "out" faction in the Eighth District. The Constitution telephoned Mr. Hall's office and talked with Mr. Hall's assistant, James F. McKillip. Mr. McKillip said he was authorized to say for the chairman that he had not endorsed any faction in the past and would not in the future. He said the committee had enough trouble with 48 states, without borrowing from districts and counties.

It seems to us that the Eisenhower faction, which won in the Chicago convention, has made an honest effort to build a respected opposition party in Georgia. They made a commendable race in the Fifth Congressional District. They have kept the party Republican and have not mixed it into Democratic state politics.

As an observer of the scene, we trust that the best interest of the Republican Party will be upheld and that the constructive policy will be enabled to continue.

Let the Study Group Complete Work First

It is doubtful that a proposed economy investigation into state government by the General Assembly would accomplish anything more than that proposed by the Griffin administration for its problem study committee.

The latter, already approved by the House and Senate, is composed of state legislators and officials. One of their jobs, as outlined by Gov. Griffin, is to examine every operation of government to find out what economies can be effected. After that they are instructed to examine ways and means of raising revenue to carry on the necessary program of services.

Most citizens will agree with Rep. W. C. Ivey's desire to improve efficiency and with the obvious need for every economy in state government. Certainly they want to receive every dollar in services possible for the taxes they contribute. The administration has a mandate to do that very thing.

Perhaps an investigation by the General Assembly would be in order later but two probes by essentially the same group would make for confusion and conflicting conclusions. Meanwhile, every General Assembly should be concerned at all times with achieving economy. Certainly every Georgian has a right to demand that every economy possible be made before he is asked to contribute more taxes.

Clayton County Might Expand, Even as DeKalb

Clayton County, which is participating in the growth of the Atlanta Metropolitan area, hopes to set up a water authority.

The purpose of the authority is to provide the advantages of urban living, such as water and sewers, to the many thousands who work in the city but who prefer suburban living.

The case of DeKalb's county-wide water system is a fine example. Since its installation, the county's growth has been phenomenal. New residential sections have sprung up all over the county, and new industries have been established. Payrolls have grown under the blessing of water, and DeKalb's tax digest has increased substantially.

Clayton County has most of DeKalb's advantages with the exception of water. So have many sections of Fulton County, but they have been slow to grow because water is missing. Part of DeKalb's expansion was at the expense of Fulton. Now it looks like Clayton intends to attract its quota of those who work in Fulton but pay their taxes elsewhere.

Reds Win a Victory In India Steel Plant

The Communists have made another major gain in Asia, taking a chance that neither the American Government nor American private capital was willing to take.

The Indian and Soviet governments have signed an agreement under which the Reds will build a $95,000,000 steel mill in India—the Soviet's first big industrial project in a non-Communist country. It is also the biggest economic infiltration yet by Communists in Southern Asia.

Not only that, but the Communists are supplying $5,250,000 in technical aid and personnel to build the plant.

The Reds will use the development to the maximum degree for its propaganda value and to infiltrate India's economic system.

It is no small victory for the Soviets.

Meanwhile, ambitious U.S. plans for an Asiatic Marshall Plan are dying quietly. And American private investors are afraid of the area. It is a situation made to order for the Reds.

A Russian-built steel plant, with a capacity of a million tons of steel ingots and 750,000 tons of finished steel will be a powerful tool in the hands of the Communists in the struggle for Asia. Capital improvements of this nature are among the top needs of the so-called underdeveloped countries now mired in poverty.

The battle for Asia still may be won in the economic sphere. As Chester Bowles and many others have pointed out, technical aid and capital investments to provide industry are the great needs. How they are provided will be the determining factor in whether Asia finally surrenders to communism.

Another Georgian Heads Fourteenth Air Force

The 14th Air Force has a new commander and he's a Georgian, too. Maj. Gen. George G. Finch, of Atlanta, has assumed command of the largest continental Air Force with headquarters at Warner Robins, near Macon.

The Georgian is the first Air National Guard officer to become head of a major Air Force command. It is a tribute to his ability and to his achievements in the Guard that he has been named to a post of such major responsibility. It is also a recognition of the growing importance of the role of the reserves in military planning.

Georgia welcomes this splendid officer back to the state. He will do a good job with the tough assignment he has been handed.

Gen. Finch succeeds another Georgian, Maj. Gen. Charles E. Thomas, who retired Feb. 1 after 37 years of service. Gen. Thomas has commanded the 14th during its organizational years as the major training unit of the Air Force. He has built it into an effective machine that has been of inestimable value in building the defenses of this country.

Georgia and the nation are grateful to Gen. Thomas and hope his years in retirement are filled with just rewards. His successor has full assurances of cooperation from his fellow Georgians and the best wishes of the entire 14th Air Force area.

Gordon Countians Plan To Restore Capital Of Cherokee Nation as Tourist Attraction

Decatur—In November, 1825, the legislature of the Cherokee Nation of Indians voted to establish a national capital for the Cherokees at the junction of the Connesauga and Coosawattee rivers (near the present-day city of Calhoun, Georgia). Between this date and the removal of the Cherokees in the 1830s, the new capital—called New Echota—became the center of one of America's most unique cultures.

In the century after the Cherokees were removed from Georgia, New Echota disappeared from the surface of the land. Recently, upon the urging of Gordon County citizens and state historical groups, the Georgia Historical Commission relocated the site through research, which was verified by intensive excavations.

The people of Gordon County are now anxious to restore this famous and unusual Indian capital, and make of it a historic shrine suitable to the history of the Cherokee Indians. Once properly restored, and perhaps converted into a state park, the little city will become a mecca for tourists, students, and interested citizens everywhere.

In order to finance this project Gordon Countians have organized a non-profit corporate body—the New Echota-Cherokee Restoration Foundation—and are soliciting donations to complete their worthwhile scheme. Interested Georgians may share in this enterprise by sending donations to the foundation, in care of the Chamber of Commerce, Calhoun, Georgia. It is our hope that there will be a willing response to this appeal.

Juries Should Decide On Teen-Age Execution

Atlanta — While there is much to be said against the barbarism of executing teenagers, the decision of whether or not to do so should be reserved to juries.

Passage of a bill prohibiting execution of persons under 21 conceivably could result in farcical dispensation of justice in cases where qualified authorities adjudge a minor convicted of a capital offense mentally competent and responsible.

The maturity of an individual is more a matter of physiological and psychological development than a matter of growth in years. It is, therefore, conceivable that our sense of justice could be outraged should a mature minor, of a "trading" nature, be willing to exchange his freedom for the life of someone he has come to hate. Such a person might resort to murder if certain his own life is secure under the law.

Let's leave our law in this respect as it is and let the merits of each case be the determing factor.

Let Big Trucks Buy Own Right of Way

East Point — There has been so much talk about the present state officials advocating more and more taxes for more highways for these giant freight trucks to take over.

If the big trucking companies are going to continue hauling freight in box-car size trailer trucks, let them buy a right-of-way and build and maintain their own highways.

The railroads bought and built and maintain their own highways and pay heavy taxes also.

It will take ten times the amount of money to build highways sufficient to carry these monsters as it would to build them for automobiles and light trucks.

Execution Is Called A 'Sensible Solution'

Alto — We read pages of regrets over the electrocution of teenagers —barrels of tears shed over the poor murderers — but with never a peep of sympathy for the innocent persons these brutes shoot down just so they can steal their pocket money, often only a few dollars.

The state should not expend thousands of dollars upon them in a prison. Give them the "hot seat" with no regrets is the only sensible solution.

Cooks Have All Abdicated; Can Opener Reigns Instead

"Civilized man cannot live without cooks," said Owen Meredith many years ago. The saying is still true but cooking today is not what is was in Owen Meredith's day. Time was when a cook was a cook. The butcher's boy staggered into the house with great slabs of red-blooded meat, and the grocer followed with huge paper bags of potatoes, vegetables, greens. Those were the raw materials, and after she had worked them over a day or so, the cook brought to the table a meal that was fit for a husband.

There were seconds, there were even thirds, and there would be enough left over so that late evening investigation of the ice-box would not go unrewarded. Sometimes there were special treats. Sometimes the white-aproned man from the fish market would arrive with a paper bucket crammed to the top with oysters.

Those were great occasions, and over the oyster stew the cook labored with the concentration of a Nobel Prize chemist. She took vast pride in the stew, the recipe was her own and, it is to be feared, she never told all the ingredients even to those who most wistfully asked her.

Today it is different. Most of the food that enters the kitchen is in packaged form. The steaks come in cellophane coverings and the vegetables are packaged and then frozen. Preparation of dinner is a matter of but a few minutes instead of several hours.

Idle hands, the cooks are becoming, idle hands which the devil alone will take pleasure in filling. Time was when the cook was in the kitchen all day long, humming, contented, warmed by her stove. It perhaps is a small thing, but this matter of the warming is important, certainly so now that winter is here. When she cooked, the temperature of her domain remained all day long at the abnormally high degree of her choosing.

But with packaged foods which take no longer than the advertised moment to prepare, with time to open instead of vegetables to peel, she no longer is much in the kitchen. Having the run of the house, lacking the activity of cooking to increase circulation, she finds herself constantly cold. Fiddling with the thermostat, raising it to the madness of midsummer heat, obviously is the work of the sponsor of idle hands, with final costs shown on the month's fuel bill. Only when the cook goes back to cooking can this fuel bill be met.

Idle hands, idle hands that used to be busy! Oh, how we of the older generation do miss them! Only here and there in rare spots can be found the old-fashioned woman who still "cooks by ear," and she ranks among God's greatest gifts to mankind.

String of Pearls Can Be Choker

Dangling neckpieces — necklaces, pendants and such — hang as a constant threat to the safety of women working in modern industry. The magazine American Machinist has so warned. The advice receives a second from "Rosy" Rozier, the Wrightsville editor-columnist. "Rosy" says, "Those new-fashioned long strings of beads the gals are wearing are downright hazardous." Then he cites the case of a young lady who was almost strangled when her beads were caught in the posting machine at the Bank of Wrightsville. The Wrightsville pundit observes, "When the girls wore those beads in the twenties, they probably didn't have quite as much mechanical equipment to operate."

On the other hand, the modern housewife has been freed from the hanging beads hazard when it comes to the family washing. The new home laundries have no wringers.

The Kids Go Wild In a Japanese Room

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Wherever people go, they carry their cooking and their customs with them. The other day, wandering with an American friend and his family, through one of the outlying sections of Sao Paulo, we came upon a house bearing the sign in Portuguese that inside was a restaurant. We stopped and went in, and it was like stepping, suddenly, 10,000 miles across the world to Tokyo.

A Japanese girl, smiling and bowing, indicated that we should take off our shoes and follow her. We did, and she ushered us, through a sliding door paneled in paper, into a room that was straight out of old Japan. The floor was of Tatami, the thick mats woven of rice straw. The alcove in the corner, with its flower arrangement, and its silken hanging on which was painted birds in flight, was all the decoration. There was no furniture, only the bare room and the low table in the center.

From behind a sliding panel that looked like part of the wall the hostess brought out pillows to sit on, and arm rests, like little benches, to rest the elbow on. She laid out chop sticks on the table. Then the parade began. Waitresses poured in in a steady stream. One brought a tray of hot wet towels, wrung nearly dry, for the face and hands, the first step in eating a Japanese meal. Others brought tiny bowls of salted nuts, including parched lima beans, dipped in oil and roasted until their skins popped open. Kneeling beside each one of us, the waitresses shelled the nuts for us, another quaint manifestation of Japanese helpfulness.

After the nuts came rice, and a rich soup in which bits of vegetables and chunks of creamy white soy bean paste floated. And after that shrimp, and little fish, and bits of eel, fried tempura style by dipping in a batter faintly flavored with sesame. And little bottles that looked like bud vases, from which they poured hot saki, a rice wine, into tiny cups, for the grown ups, and guarani, a kind of fruit drink, for the children.

The kids enjoyed it. They dived in with their chopsticks and made a gaudy mess that seemed to please them mightily. But the thing that pleased them most, it seems, was the room itself. The soft mat floor was springy under foot, and they ran about the small room whooping and yelling and falling and howling with laughter, their father shouting at them but helpless to stop them.

But a good Japanese waitress is equal to any situation. Gently catching each child as it came bouncing by, they sat them down and, in a language that might have been Japanese, or Portuguese, or Sanskrit, for all I know, began to tell them what seemed to be fairy stories, complete with gestures. And the children sat there bug-eyed, listening, not understanding a word, but charmed somehow, by the sound of the sing song voice, until they were quiet again.

But thinking it over, I've come to the conclusion the reason the bill was so large was to teach us Americans a lesson—that when we go out to dine in a Japanese restaurant where all is done with quietness, and delicacy, and great formality, we ought to leave our kids at home.

Hilda's Choice Was To Follow the Lord

Yesterday I was telling of Miss Hilda Keng, the Chinese girl who felt called of God for Christian service and her desire to come to America for further study. Though her father was extremely wealthy, not one cent would he give her. Further, if she did as she planned, she would be cut off from the family.

Jesus said, "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me" (Matt. 10:37).

Rarely is one called upon to make a choice between the two. Hilda had that choice. She recognized her first allegiance was to her Lord. So she took all of her own personal jewelry and sold it. She had beautiful treasures, but to her, Christ was worth more. For her jewelry she got $10,000 in American money. With that money she came to America.

One recalls the words of The Master to a certain wealthy young man, "Go and sell that thou hast . . . and come and follow me" (Matt. 19:21). Hilda actually and completely did that. First she went to Scarritt in Nashville and took a master's degree in Religious Education.

Then she enrolled in the School of Theology of Emory to begin work for a Bachelor of Divinity degree. This would require three years of additional work and I know of only one other girl who has done it at Emory. She completed the course with a very high record. Then she went to Boston University for study in the field of Philosophy of Religion.

Her one desire was to go back to China to work with her own people. But now the Communists had taken over and the doors of opportunity were closed against her. Now she was cut off not only from her family, also from her native land, a stranger in a strange land. But she had learned the lessons of her faith well.

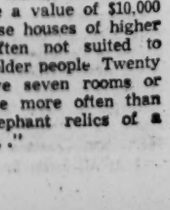

If she could not do what she had planned to do, then she would do what she could do. She prayed and she had faith. She believed God had a plan for her life and she believed, if one is willing to pray as Jesus prayed, "Nevertheless not my will, but thine be done" (Luke 22:42), that God will open the way.

I was so impressed with her Christian faith and wonderful ability that I wanted her to work in my church with me. When the place was offered her, she accepted it. I asked what salary she would expect. She replied, "I do not care about salary, I only want an opportunity to serve Christ." And now, we would not trade Hilda for all the tea in China.

There is something wonderful in this story. A young girl went out from Atlanta to teach little Chinese girls. And now, one of the little girls trained in the Laura Haygood School in China is in Atlanta teaching little American boys and girls. It has been well said. "In Christ there is no East or West." That is true.

Income and Housing Are Crucial to Aged

Income and housing are two of the crucial problems of the aged population. Those factors bear on most of us, of course, but they are particularly pertinent to the 65-and-over group.

Where do the aged live, and from what sources are their incomes derived?

These questions are taken up in the comprehensive survey of aging made by a joint committee of the New York State Legislature.

About the money. The New York study states that the three main sources of income of persons over 65 are employment, social insurance and related programs, and public assistance.

A third of those over 65 receive their income from employment, the New York survey says. About one-fourth receive Old Age and Survivors Insurance, and about one-fifth are on the public assistance rolls. Private pension plans were not included because of the inexactness of figures available. Nor are private savings of individuals mentioned.

Georgia, like New York State, has an aging problem. The number of persons 65 and over increased seven per cent in our state during the 1950-53 period, and Georgia now ranks 19th in the nation in numbers of persons 65 and over.

A source of income breakdown is not readily available for Georgia aged, but there is a radical difference from the ratios put forward in the New York study. For instance, the percentage in Georgia of those over 65 who are receiving public assistance (old age pensions) is right at 50 per cent, one of the highest rates in the nation.

The New York study cites figures for various income levels of the older person. As of 1950, income distribution of money income for families with head 65 and over included these percentages: Under $500—14.7 per cent; $500-$1,000—15.7 per cent; $1,000-$2,000—21.2 per cent; $2,000-$3,000—15.8 per cent; $3,000-$4,000—11.5 per cent; $4,000-$5,000—6.4 per cent.

However, about 63 per cent of the older persons own their own homes, the study says, and nearly half report assets, including real estate, of over $5,000. But about one-fourth have no assets or have less than $1,000.

The report says this in regard to type of housing:

"Eight per cent of the homes owned by older people are listed by the U.S. Bureau of the Census as dilapidated and over one-fifth have a value of less than $4,000. On the other hand, however, 30 per cent have a value of $10,000 or more. These houses of higher value are often not suited to the needs of older people. Twenty per cent have seven rooms or more and are more often than not white elephant relics of a former day . . ."

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyder

A few hours before Georgia Tech played Kentucky in the historic basketball re-match of last Monday night, the two coaches had a chance meeting on the street. Adolph Rupp, constantly critical of basketball and facilities at Tech, bluntly cross-examined Whack Hyder.

"What's your aim in basketball out here at Tech?" the Baron asked. "What do you expect to do in a place like this?" And he swept his meathand in the direction of the little gymnasium that seats 2,000, with the use of a shoe horn.

Bisher

"I'll tell you, Coach," Hyder said, "these are my aims. First, I want my boys to adjust themselves spiritually. Second, I want them to go to school and get an education. Next, I want them to give us their time for basketball. Next, I want them to adjust themselves socially to this campus so that they can become good citizens."

The granite-faced Rupp stared him coldly in the eye and said: "You'll never do that. Boys aren't built that way any more."

"If they aren't," Hyder said, "if I can't meet those aims, then I'll quit coaching in a year or two."

Hyder is the man they had in mind when they invented the term, "plain as an old shoe." He is a man of simple tastes and a reasonable demand on life. He is surely not the coach you'd nominate to meet Rupp, the basketball heavyweight, in a contest of genius. Yet, with some athletes who fit the pattern that Hyder cut out for his kind of man, some boys who are built that way, the thrust-jawed Tech kicked his antagonist around that night.

—The Offense Fits the Defense

"I'll tell you," he said, "you'll never know how good it felt to sit there and lead Rupp on the basketball floor for 40 minutes. Boy, that's a great feeling."

Then he made a confession, honest man that he is. (Hyder is a church man, member of the board of stewards at St. Mark's Methodist and regular attendant each Sunday.) He'd gone to Lexington back in December to see LaSalle play Kentucky in Rupp's holiday invitational tournament. He went on the pretense of a scouting mission.

"I'll confess," he said. "I dislike Rupp so much I wanted to see him get beat. I thought that would be the best chance I'd have. I never had any idea I'd be able to do it myself."

Hyder had to face facts, he said, when he hoped the first time they met that Tech could hold Kentucky within 50 points. "They were better than we were. They had better individuals. But the second time, our kids thought they could beat them again."

There were technical reasons involved both times, however. "I don't take any credit for any of it," Hyder said. "When the situations arose, our kids just adjusted. Bobby Kimmel was responsible the first time for the adjustment that helped us win. Dick Lenholt did it the second time, and neither one had any help from the bench.

"One big reason for us winning is that our offense fits in perfectly with their defense. They use a straight man-to-man defense and we play an open post offense. That means we don't use a big man in the keyhole as a pivot, but we do a lot of screening and setting up that's difficult to cover."

—They're Still Making That Kind

Still, technicalities won't add up to two Georgia Tech victories over Kentucky in basketball. They don't build that kind of mathematics any more, either.

There was that disorder back home in Kentucky. When the Wildcats got back Linville Puckett, a starting guard, quit the squad. He found out basketball "isn't a game at Kentucky, but a matter of life and death."

Rupp said later that Puckett had repented and asked to be taken back. Puckett said it wasn't so. Whether Puckett was right or wrong, it still wasn't a very pretty picture.

Down in Malone, Fla., they were making Joe Helms the honorary mayor. He was the peewee who'd been the start of both upsets. Little Joe, the toughest point Kentucky has tried to roll in a long time, had some ideas not so technical on the new prosperity.

"Well, uh, we knew they could be beat," he said. "We'd done it before. They didn't have much respect for us before. When we got off to that lead out here, that increased their respect for us. When we got ahead, I thought we could win. When we led at the half, I knew we could win. They hadn't been beat in so long they didn't know what to do about it."

You're inclined to think that it's because Rupp was wrong. They're still making some of the old models, and that there are several of them at Georgia Tech, helping Whack Hyder meet his aims.

Kirby-Romack Combine Downs Lesser-Dennehy

Defending Champs Colby and Berger Also Gain Semifinals of 4-Ball Meet

Dorothy Kirby — Barbara Romack

Miss Romack and her partner, Dot Kirby of Atlanta, were three down after six holes but rallied and scored a 3-and-1 victory.

Winning the last three holes on the front side to square the match, the Romack-Kirby team went ahead at No. 10 when Barbara chipped up and sank a 4-foot putt. Miss Lesser, Helen Lee Doherty champion from Seattle, squared the match on the next hole with a chip and a 3-foot putt. Miss Kirby missed a 2-footer which would have halved the hole.

Miss Romack, who has never beaten Miss Lesser in four individual match meetings, put her team ahead for good at No. 13 by hitting the green with her tee shot and getting down in two putts. The others missed the green.

Advancing to the semifinals with Miss Romack and Miss Kirby were Vonnie Colby of Hollywood and Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y., the defending champions, who beat Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, N.C., and Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 1-up; Wiffi Smith of Los Angeles and Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., beat Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, and Gloria Armstrong of Oakland, Calif., 2-and-1, and Polly Riley of Fort Worth and Bea McWane of Birmingham, Ala., beat Greta Leone of Chicago and Norma Shook of Hickory, N.C., 3-and-2.

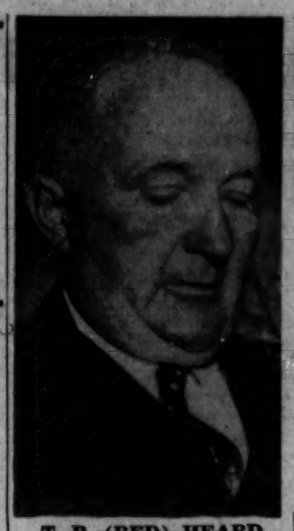

The Romack-Kirby team will play Miss Smith and Miss Ziske while Miss Colby and Mrs. Berger play Miss McWane and Miss Riley. The 36-hole finals will be played Sunday over the Orange Brook course.

T. P. (RED) HEARD
Report He'll Be Retired

TINSLEY, HEARD SAID ON WAY OUT AS LSU SUPERVISORS MEET TODAY

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 4 (AP)—President Troy Middleton of Louisiana State University declined to comment tonight on widespread reports football coach Gus Tinsley would be ousted.

Middleton said the question "may" come up tomorrow at a meeting of the LSU Board of Supervisors.

Referring to another report that LSU Athletic Director T. P. (Red) Heard would be retired after 23 years, Middleton said, "I'm not going to make any comment tonight. The board meets tomorrow."

Tinsley, who was an all-America end at LSU in 1935 and 1936, said he had no comment.

Heard was reported out of town.

A reliable source at LSU, who declined to be identified, said the Athletic Council had recommended Tinsley's dismissal. If so, final action would be up to the board.

Dean J. G. Lee Jr., chairman of the council, declined to comment on the reports and said he did not know if the question would be aired at tomorrow's meeting.

Tinsley took over the head coaching job in 1948 from Bernie Moore, now commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. In the seven-year period, Tinsley's football teams have won 35 games, lost 34 and tied six. His 1954 edition had a 5-6 record, including a victory over Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference.

Tinsley has two more years to go on a three-year contract. The contract was given to him last year by the board after the council had recommended only a one-year contract. His salary is $12,500 annually.

Heard has no contract as athletic director. He also serves as professor of physical education. Salaries for the jobs were not available.

Bud Montet, sports editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, will say in his column tomorrow, "The Board of Supervisors will use a new broom and sweep clean in the athletic department."

MALONE CITY COUNCIL NAMES TECH'S HELMS HONORARY MAYOR FOR FEATS AGAINST 'CATS

The City Council of Malone, Fla., has named favorite-son Joe Helms Honorary Mayor of his home town.

The council announced its action Friday afternoon, four days after Helms had led Georgia Tech to its second straight victory over mighty Kentucky.

Helms is one of the all-time great athletes to come out of Malone, a town of 750 in north Florida within six miles of the Alabama line and 15 from Georgia.

The 5-9½ engineering student was an all-state basketball star the year Malone won the Class B state championship and also played second base for the baseball team. Malone has no football team.

Helms later went to Chipola Junior College at Marianna, Fla., just 13 miles down State Highway 17 from Malone, and starred in basketball for two years there. He was named all-region his freshman year.

This has been the hustling speedster's first year at Georgia Tech. Smallest man on the squad, he's the leading scorer both in points and average and was top man in both victories against Kentucky. In fact, it was his jump shot in the last 11 seconds that beat the Wildcats, 59-58, the first time.

Helms' old junior college coach, Bud Burger, will bring his unbeaten Chipola squad to Tech Saturday to meet the Jacket freshmen in a preliminary to the Tech-Alabama game. He will carry with him a gift, scroll and key to the city for Helms on behalf of the Malone city fathers.

Johnny Palmer Takes Lead in Phoenix Open

Sinks 40-Foot Putt for 68, Posts Two-Day Total of 135

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4 (AP)—Dropping a 40-foot putt on the final hole, husky Johnny Palmer took the lead at the 36-hole midway point in the $15,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament Friday with a 135, five under par.

The veteran from Charlotte, N.C., who believes a score of 274 could win this event, carded a 68 to edge past Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., first-round leader, who added a 70 to his 66 of Thursday for 136.

Palmer didn't win a tournament last month but collected $3,850 for finishes near the top. He said his hole-in-one the day before this event began "put the steam to me." It was his first ace of a 23-year golfing career.

The last tournament victory for the 36-year-old Palmer was in the Colonial at Fort Worth, Texas, last May.

Today he sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie on the 16th and then finished out when the long one on the 18th.

While Johnny was one of the tournament favorites, another Palmer, Arnold (no relation) surprised by carding a 68 for 137.

Although the start of play was delayed again because of frost on the greens, the bright sun burned it off in short order and winds, which bothered competitors Thursday, slackened.

Three golfers deadlocked with Johnny Palmer in second place at 67 after the first round faded in the second. Walter Burkemo, former PGA titlist from Franklin, Mich., dropped his putter and broke it after the 12th hole. He completed the round putting with a driver and took a 71 for 138.

Jack Fleck, Davenport, Iowa, slipped to a 73 for a 140, and Jack Mann, Temple, Tex., who finished the final three holes of his first round this morning before hitting into the second, had a 76—143.

U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol, defending his Phoelinx title, remained very much in contention as he added a 68 to his opening 70 for a 138. With the same total on 69-69 came Cary Middlecoff, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., who lost a playoff to Furgol here last year.

Johnny Palmer, 67-68—135; Gene Littler, 66-70—136; Arnold Palmer, 69-68—137; Ed Furgol, 70-68—138; Walter Burkemo, 67-71—138; Cary Middlecoff, 69-69—138; Tony Holguin, 69-70—139; Shelly Mayfield, 71-68—139; Bo Wininger, 72-67—139; Jay Hebert, 70-69—139; Bou Finsterwald, 72-67—139; Jack Fleck, 67-73—140; Billy Maxwell, 69-71—140; Leo Diegel, 69-71—140; Ed Oliver, 69-71—140; Vic Ghezzi, 70-71—141; Mike Souchak, 69-72—141; Al Desselink, 69-72—141; Jimmy Clark, 68-73—141; Jerry Barber, 72-69—141.

Roosevelt Suspends Four Star Athletes

Detrimental Conduct Termed Reason by Coach Emmert

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Four of Roosevelt High's top athletes Friday were suspended from all participation in sports for the remainder of the school year for what head coach and athletic director Calvin (Red) Emmert termed "conduct detrimental to the athletic program."

Suspended athletes are Ted Moseley, Alvin Ellis, Fred Rice and Charles Butler. All except Butler, a soph, are seniors and all are regulars or part-time regulars on Coach Jack Glasgow's strong City League basketball team.

"We consider these boys victims of circumstances, but circumstances we cannot ignore," said Emmert after suspending the boys. "They have all been among our finest athletes, have done wonderful athletic jobs for me and the other coaches. We regret that we won't be able to use them the rest of the year in basketball, baseball and track, at which they excel," said Emmert, who declined to elaborate further.

Moseley, an All-Greater Atlanta football quarterback, is seventh high City League basketball scorer, 17th in the state, with 110 points in seven Region 3-AA games for a 15.7 per-game average. He runs the 880 in track.

Ellis has been City League golf champion for two years and is one of Atlanta's most promising young linksmen in addition to his basketball ability.

Rice, a stick-out football end, is the play-making guard on the basketball team and one of the city's top baseball pitchers. Many felt Rice's hurling would make Roosevelt a prime contender for state honors in the spring.

Butler is a promising baseball player and a sprint man in track.

The suspensions leave Roosevelt with only two varsity players who have played regularly, Hugh Little and Charles Smith.

FOUR GEORGETOWN CAGERS CANNED FOR BREAKING RULES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Four members of the Georgetown University basketball squad were suspended from the university Friday on disciplinary grounds. They are Hank Morano, Matt White and Dick Percudani, all members of the starting five, and Dick Farrell, a reserve.

The Rev. Richard C. Law, S. J., moderator of athletics, said the four had failed to "obey disciplinary regulations" on a recent southern trip and had displayed "a general attitude of non-cooperation" toward training rules.

All four of the players are sophomores. The university said that "under normal conditions" they may return to Georgetown in September and in that event would be eligible for play in the 1955-56 season.

Berry Trims ADUG, 82-79

Berry College's basketeers slipped by Atlanta Division University of Georgia, 82-79, in a thrill-packed overtimer at ADUG court Friday night.

The Rome quintet never headed the Atlantans during the regulation game but managed to flip in a basket 20 seconds before the final whistle to knot the count at 71-all and force an overtime.

In the extra period, the visitors outscored ADUG, 11-9. Ralph Williams led Berry's attack with 24. Bobby Baldwin wes top man for ADUG, bucketing 23. Teammates Boogie Cawthorn and Don Smith contributed 20 and 18.

In the preliminary B team skirmish, ADUG won 67-63, also in overtime. Frank Applegate was top man for the ADUG Bees with 21.

Mightiest Underdogs, Jackets Try Alabama

Tide Invades At 8 O'clock

By LARRY FOX

Georgia Tech's magnificent underdogs have a chance to scramble the Southeastern Conference standings again Saturday night when league-leading Alabama comes in for an 8 p.m. contest at Tech gym.

In the 6 p.m. preliminary, Chipola Junior College, unbeaten in 20 straight games this year, meets the Tech freshmen.

The varsity game will find Georgia Tech just about as heavy an underdog as the Jackets were in both their games with Kentucky. Alabama has one of the real class clubs in the conference, despite a shocking 76-74 loss to Florida Monday, the same night Tech measured Kentucky.

The Crimson Tide of Coach Johnny Dee owns an abundance of height with Jerry Harper, a 6-8 center, the biggest operator. Harper, fifth leading scorer in the conference, can get help, too, from 6-9 Dick Wise, a reserve.

Up front, the Tide also has George Linn, No. 7 point man in the conference and the man who made that 88-foot-plus basket against North Carolina, and Dennis O'Shea. Billy Crews will handle one guard. If ace floor man Leon Marlaire is still out hurt, O'Shea will probably move to guard and Wise will take over at forward.

Tech will start the iron men who went all the way against Kentucky—Gary Phillips, Bill Cohen, Dick Lenholt, Bobby Kimmel and Joe Helms.

Overall, Alabama has a 12-3 record and a 4-1 SEC chart. Tech is 3-4 in the league and 6-10 against all opposition.

Although Tech can't profit too much in the standings by beating Alabama, a loss could cost the Tide its league lead.

Kentucky's Wildcats are a close second at 5-2 but must stop Mississippi and high-scoring Denver Brackeen in Memphis to take advantage of any Alabama slip.

The two teams tied for third place also battle in one of the night's highlights as Auburn goes to Nashville to meet Vanderbilt.

This one matches a pair of 4-2 records and high-scoring guards in Bill Kirkpatrick of Auburn and Al Rochelle of Vanderbilt.

Two other top-notch games are on the schedule.

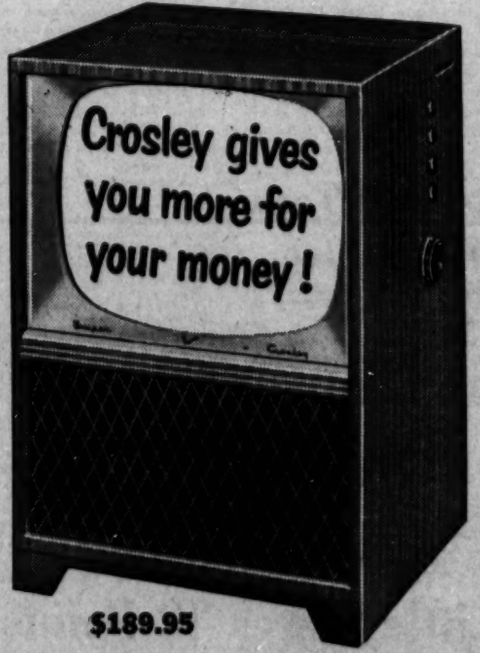

Up at Knoxville, it's Florida, the club that beat Alabama, against Tennessee, fifth-place team in the league. And at Baton Rouge, Louisiana State plays host to Tulane.

Georgia and Mississippi State are idle.

Smith Makes Baker Hump for 33d Win

Smithies' Echols Scores 23, But Lee Has Winning Hand

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Baker's Lions notched their 33rd consecutive basketball victory here Friday night, but the Atlanta Smith High Smithies, the same school the Columbusites nipped in the finals of the 1954 state Class AA tournament, made the invaders sweat and strain to the final moments for the 53-47 triumph.

All the drama of the Smithies' near miss in their bid to end Georgia's most heralded winning skein cannot be put into printed words. But it might help to explain that the score was tied nine times and, in the final half, the lead changed hands 14 times. It didn't change hands in the first half because the heavily favored Lions never were ahead.

It might help to note that the lead changed hands on each of 10 consecutive baskets in the final quarter, Baker going ahead to stay on Jimmy Lee's one-handed field shot that made it 47-45 with only a minute and 20 seconds left. After that all was bedlam as Baker sought to hold on and Smith made fouls attempting to gain ball possession.

Out of the ashes of defeat rose a new star about which much is destined to be written in the next two years. Lamar Echols, a 6-4 sophomore center, threw 23 points into the hampers to outscore more publicized performers. The Smith beanpole hit 7 of 13 field attempts, 9 of 17 foul tries.

Bobby Braden, who has not practiced for a week because of a sprained ankle, was assigned to play the brilliant Lee man-to-man and did a terrific job. The clever Lee managed 18 points to Braden's 10, however, and it was his presence and eight last-quarter points that iced the decision.

Smith guard Billy McDaniel almost completely throttled Bobby Chaney, Baker's fine long-shot artist, holding him to a single field goal.

Baker trailed 16-12 and 24-20 at the first two-quarter poles, was ahead by 37-36 at the three-quarter mark. Some fine clutch shooting by Tommy Darrah (11 points) and Jimmy Selvey (6 points), who divided center chores, had heavy bearing on the final outcome.

Coach Buoba Ball's Bakers, who have hit 38.5 percent of their shots all season, clicked on only 31 per cent, 18 for 58. They excelled at the foul line though, pumping in 17 of 21. Smith hit only 16 of 54 field shots, 29 per cent, and 15 of 25 charity chunks.

Jill Jordan and Betty Eason looped in 20 and 14 points in leading the Northside girls to an opening 41-28 victory over Smith. Reba Ward and Helen Born had 15 and eight for the losers.

Baker (53)		Smith (47)
Watkins (6)	F	Baden (10)
Ivey (6)	F	Ballard (0)
Darrah (11)	C	Echols (23)
Lee (18)	G	McDaniels (8)
Chaney (2)	G	Ford (6)

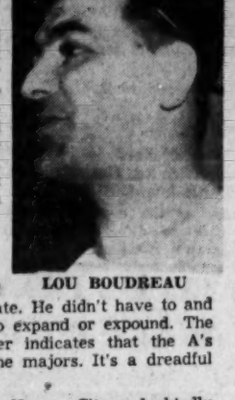

Score at half: Smith 24; Baker 20.
Subs: Baker—Shorr (4), Selvey (6). Smith—Shadix, Warren.

A'S' OLE HOUSE AIN'T BEEN REBUILT

KANSAS CITY CHALLENGE MEANS MORE JUGGLING FOR LOU

By ARTHUR DALEY
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—When Lou Boudreau was managing the Cleveland Indians in 1948, he spoke with the brisk assurance of a man who knew he had a solid ball club to back his words. Thanks to the magnificent shortstopping of a certain Lou Boudreau, the runaway pick as the American League's most valuable player, the Tribe won the pennant and world series.

LOU BOUDREAU

By the time the Boy Leader had switched to the Boston Red Sox, he'd lost his strongest asset, the muscular master-minding of Shortstop Boudreau. As long as he had Ted Williams in his line-up, though, his Bosox had an outside chance of sorts. So he spoke with a cautious optimism, never neglecting to keep his fingers crossed. That nothing came of it is unimportant to this discussion.

But now Boudreau is the new manager of the new Kansas City Athletics. What does he say now?

"This is a challenge, a real challenge," he said. He did not elaborate. He didn't have to and it would have been cruel to ask him to expand or expound. The recent arrival of a Kansas City roster indicates that the A's have the worst collection of stiffs in the majors. It's a dreadful team.

The novelty of major league ball in Kansas City undoubtedly will mean a million plus in attendance, just as it did in Baltimore. But after the novelty wears off, what? An observer shudders to think of it because there just aren't short cuts any more for the creation of a contender from nothing.

Unthinking folks are likely to snap back with the query: But what about Milwaukee? This is a misleading parallel. The Braves finished a dismal seventh in their last year in Boston and then reached an exciting second in their first season in Milwaukee. But they had been a young, up-and-coming team in the Hub, needing only a couple of right-handed hitters and some inspiration. In Milwaukee they got what they needed.

There are only two names on the entire Kansas City roster that would draw a flicker of interest from other teams for a trade. One is Arnold Portocarrero, the pitcher, and the other is Jim Finigan, the third baseman whose .302 batting average made him the only .300 man on the club. Of course, there's Bobby Shantz but he's now a sore-armed pitcher of questionable value. And that brings to mind a story.

After the Mighty Mite had taken a bride, Coach Wally Moses asked him where they'd live.

"In Philadelphia, of course," replied Bobby.

But his wife had other ideas and they took up residence in Lincoln, Neb. Apparently, though, the midget left-hander labored valiantly to convince his wife that their home should be closer to his place of business. Last summer she capitulated and Shantz bought a house in a Philadelphia suburb. So the Athletics moved to Kansas City.

In the Baseball Writers' show the condition of the Athletics was treated in a parody to the tune of "This Ole House." This portrayed Roy and Earle Mack singing a mournful dirge as they made ready to abandon the House of Mack. Sang their impersonators:

This ole house once knew great pitchin',
This ole house had a home-run king,
This ole house knew fielding records,
And they made the turnstiles sing;
This ole house now needs TEN pitchers
And some healthy guys to clout,
But we also need this cabbage
When the mortgage-holders shout.

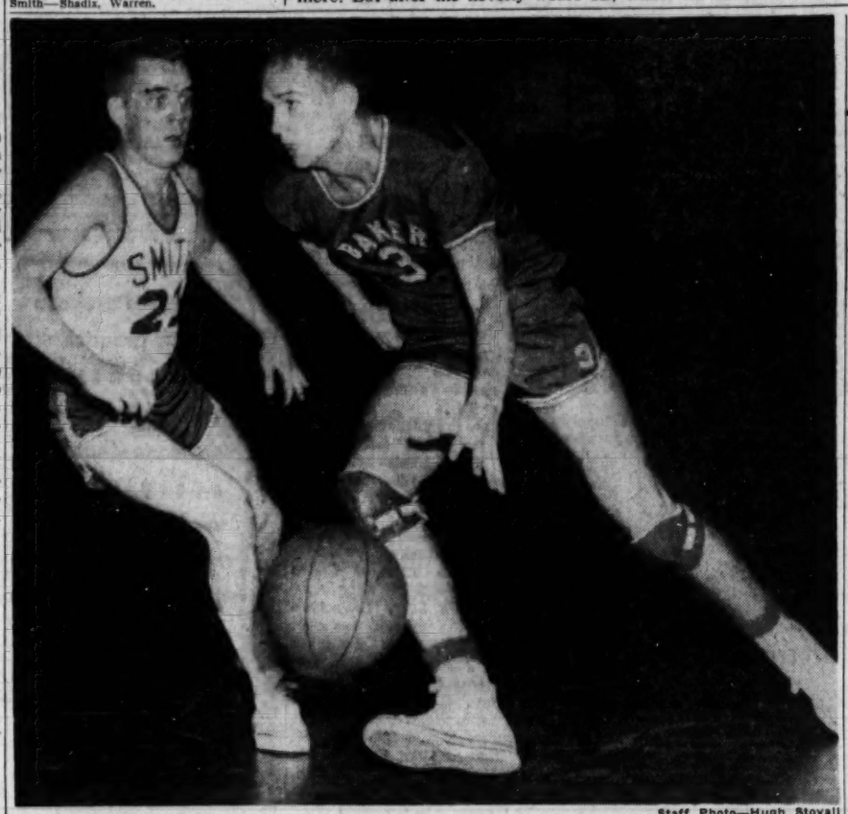

There's no escaping the fact that the ole house was a run-down property. It had no farm system and no scouts. Or it had so few of each essential commodity that they hardly were worth mentioning. But Arnold Johnson, the new owner, already has increased his scouting staff from two to ten and has begun expanding the farm system. It will take years and years for them to pay off.

Civic pride alone will make the turnstiles spin at home, but the Athletics will prove to be a turkey on the road. Unless the other owners get generous—and when was a club owner ever that unselfish?—and give the players to the A's in lopsided deals, this team can be worse than the one which finished sixty games behind Cleveland's champions last year.

Poor Boudreau is helpless to do much about it. He was roundy criticized in Boston a year ago for his endless juggling of personnel. Billy Goodman was used in four different positions while Ted Lepcio, Billy Consolo and Fred Hatfield were used in three each. There was a new line-up almost every day.

But there will be no other recourse in Kansas City. He'll have to keep juggling from the first day of spring training to the end of the season. The trial and error method still is his best bet.

"This is a challenge, a real challenge," declares Boudreau. You said it, kid.

O'Keefe Five Stuns Richmond Academy

Irish Win In Overtime On Farr Field Goal, 62-61

By HENRY HAYES

Those amazing Fighting Irish pulled the irons from the fire in an overtime period Friday night to upset the heavily favored quintet from Richmond Academy, 62-61, before a screaming throng at O'Keefe. The home team played heads-up ball from the very first, and were led to victory by Bobby Mitchell with 18 points and Farrell Farr with 16.

The game ended in a tie, 57-57, after Richmond came from behind with a stirring fourth-quarter spurt. During the three-minute overtime, Don Blanks sank a foul shot and Farrell stole a crucial pass to make a lay-up for two, but sharpshooting Frank Whitely sank four points to keep Richmond ahead up to the last fifteen seconds.

It was then that Farr drove hard for the basket, sinking the goal that clinched the game for the Irish.

Larry Bennet led the scoring for the visitors with 17 points and was ably assisted by Whitely and Cobby Ware with 10 each, and Wayne Richards with 11.

The O'Keefe girls began the twin bill by defeating Brown, 36-34, in another hair-raiser that extended into overtime. Judy Hinton was high-scorer with 14, while Anne Hayes led the losers with 18 points.

ATLANTA PREP QUINTS HOSTS TO OUT-OF-TOWN AA POWERS

Seven Greater Atlanta Class AA high school basketball teams, playing on their home courts, will face strong foes from other cities Saturday night. Almost all quintets involved are prime contenders for spots in the upcoming (Feb. 22-26) Constitution-sponsored state tournament.

Roosevelt and Smith will play host to Baker's defending state champs and tough Columbus. Albany will be at Southwest, Richmond Academy at North Fulton, Boys' Catholic at Fulton, Rossville at Decatur and Dalton at Russell. Canton will invade Marietta.

Five Atlanta quints will be finishing a second night siege of foreign ports. Bass, Murphy and Northside will meet Benedictine, Savannah High and Commercial in Savannah. Sylvan and Grady will take on Jordan and Phenix City, Ala., Central in Columbus.

Southwest and Northside, perhaps Atlanta's two strongest sextets, will tangle in the feature girls' game at Southwest prior to the Southwest-Albany boys' game. Other girls' tiffs, all starting at 7:30 p.m., include Bass at Fulton, Grady at Roosevelt, West Fulton at Smith and Sylvan at North Fulton. —ROBERTS

SW DeKalb Bounces Past College Park

Southwest DeKalb jumped into an early lead and breezed through the remainder of the game to defeat College Park, 78-56, Friday night at College Park.

Most of the victor's starters got into the scoring act, and three of them scored in double-figures. Mike Duke was tops with 26 points, while Dick Balte and Bobby Debardeladen had 18 and 15.

On the other side of the fence, Ronald Peavy tossed in 20 and Neal Barronton scored 13.

Memphis Five Rides Over Maroons

MEMPHIS, Feb. 4 (AP)—Guard Kenneth Caldwell dumped in 30 points tonight to lead Memphis State to its 13th straight basketball victory, a crushing 94-68 win over Mississippi State.

A near capacity crowd of 3,100 saw Memphis jump ahead of its Southeastern conference foe 26-12 after eight minutes of play, blow that lead, then pile up another that stood.

Caldwell hit 13 out of 20 shorts and the team average wasn't far behind, 34 out of 72 attempts for 47.2 per cent.

Sprayberry Rolls

Special to The Constitution

TATE, Ga., Feb. 4—Sprayberry's Yellow Jackets downed Tate in a twin bill here Friday night, the boys victorious by a 61-48 score, and the girls winning, 49-30. The victory was the ninth for the Sprayberry boys, who have also lost nine.

McCoy, Billingsley Pace Smyrna Comeback Win

Rally Buckles Fairburn, 56-48

By MORT PERSKY
Constitution Sports Writer

FAIRBURN, Feb. 4—Bobby McCoy and Charles Billingsley, Campbell of Smyrna's big men, and guard Wayne Dobbs shared top billing here Friday night as the Smyrnans staged a blazing second-half comeback to consume Campbell of Fairburn, 56-48.

The Smyrna girls captured the opener, 39-34, with defensive clamps that held the home team to a two-point last quarter.

But it was all Fairburn as the nightcap started, and this is almost the story of comebacking Carl Bingham, who buckled down for eight timely points in the first two quarters and whose alert play had Fairburn leading 10-4, 20-12 and 25-17 at first-half intervals.

Smyrna's return to contention actually started before halftime. McCoy began it with a couple of free throws that changed the reading to 25-19, Fred Gillespie sandwiched a set shot between a McCoy tip-in and jump to help narrow the gap from 25-17 to 27-24.

Then came the hottest half Dixie Howell's Smyrna Panthers have enjoyed this season. After a minute of play, Jim McCloud's driving layup gave the winners their first lead, 28-27. Then, in one searing five-minute period, McCoy hooked and hit from the corner, Dobbs tossed in a long set, McCoy crammed one, Dobbs set from the circle and Billingsley nudged up a tip-in. That made it 40-28, Smyrna, a comfortable lead except that McCoy fouled out seconds later with more than a quarter remaining.

That was when Billingsley went to work. Contending with Fairburn's massive Leonard Moen all along was a rough assignment and Moen made it impossible by escaping for 10 of his 11 points after McCoy departed.

Yet, Billingsley successfully coped with the rebounding problem, and pitched in three rapid goals to keep Smyrna in step. That was all Coach Howell could ask for then.

Ray Carroll, effective in both halves with a push shot from the circle, led the losers with 14 points. Billingsley tallied 16 and McCoy 14 for the winners' peaks.

Jordan Names Bradberry To Coach Auburn Backs

Three-Year Defensive Mentor Succeeds Texas-Nabbed Waller

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 4—Buck Bradberry, Auburn's defensive backfield coach since 1951, has been named the Tigers' backfield coach by Ralph Jordan following the resignation of Charlie Waller.

Coach Jordan made this announcement Friday morning after offensive backfield mentor Waller accepted an assistant's position at the University of Texas.

Buck Bradberry

"We will make no new addition to our staff," Jordan said. "Coach Bradberry is a brilliant young assistant and can handle the backfield.

"Coach Waller did a tremendous job during his four years with us and we're certain he'll continue to do so at Texas. Our relations with Charlie will always be remembered and we'll be following his progress," Jordan added.

Jordan also announced Friday that end Jim Pyburn had undergone an operation in Columbus (Ga.) for a knee injury sustained during the workouts for the Gator Bowl game in December. The all-America end will miss spring practice, which opens Tuesday, but will be back in the fall.

Westminster Wins, 50-21

Westminster, already leading all other girls' teams in Region 4-A, defeated Hapeville's lassies, 50-21, on the Westminster court Friday night. The game marked the 17th straight victory for the winners, the only undefeated team in their region.

Coach Carol Jacobs, taking advantage of the way in which her Westminster lassies forged out ahead early in the game, tried out several substitutes. Sophomore Laura Hay looked strong in scoring six points, and another sub, Carol Gregory, showed up well at guard.

Varsity sophomore Joyce Whitsell scored 20 points for Westminster. Joyce Smith scored seven points for Hapeville.

Russell Five Turns Back Rossville

Russell High School stayed on top in Region 4-AA standings by defeating visiting Rossville, 49-41, in a slow-moving game Friday night.

The victory left Russell with a 9-1 region record while Rossville remained in fourth place with a 5-3 chart.

Hard-driving Jimmy Stanley ended up as the game's high scorer with 16 points for Russell while teammates Roy Quinn and Neal Marchbanks chipped in 11 and 10.

Russell sewed the game up in the first period by holding the visitors to a single field goal in jumping off to a 13-5 lead. The Wildcats expanded it to 24-16 at the half and coasted in.

Buford Gets Finals Spot

Special to The Constitution

BUFORD, Feb. 5 — Buford's boys moved into the finals of the Gwinnett County Tournament Friday night when they eked out a 58-55 victory over Lilburn. The winners meet Dacula. In the girls' finals Dacula and Grayson will tangle.

Earlier in the afternoon Dacula boys gained the finals by beating Duluth, 59-48, with John Williams hitting for 26 points.

The Dacula girls moved in for their fifth straight championship game as they topped Lawrenceville 53-35. They have taken the last three championships. Grayson won its berth by defeating Suwanee, 50-41.

Little Scores 32 Points As Riddled Tide Rolls

Visiting Boys Catholic Team Upset by Roosevelt, 65-56

Despite the loss of four of its regulars for disciplinary reasons Roosevelt High defeated Boys Catholic of Augusta, 65-56, Friday night on the Roosevelt court.

Murphy's girls avenged an earlier loss, with a 55-52 victory over Roosevelt's girls in the opening game.

Hugh Little with 32 points was the star of the game for Roosevelt. He scored 14 field goals, and four out of five free throw attempts and starred defensively.

Charles Smith's long shots, coupled with his excellent ball handling up and down the court, was another feature of the game for the Tide. He scored first on a long shot and barely missed another long one just as the game ended.

Roosevelt's shooting was fairly consistent, with 14 goals in the first half in 31 tries and 11 in the second half in 32 tries. After the first few minutes of play the result was never in doubt. The victors led 9-0 in the opening minutes and were out in front 36-24 at the half.

Boys Catholic after a slow start gained momentum as the game progressed but could never close the margin to any extent.

Saban Is Leading Candidate For Northwestern Grid Post

Condensed From Wire Reports

Lou Saban, former backfield star for Indiana University and the Cleveland Browns, was most prominently mentioned Friday as successor to Bob Voigts as Northwestern University football coach.

Voigts quit Thursday under strong alumni pressure and there were reports in Evanston, Ill., that athletic director Ted Payseur would also be replaced. Waldo Fischer, Northwestern basketball coach, reportedly was in line for Payseur's job.

Saban, an assistant to Voigts last fall, became the top prospect after Otto Graham, one of Northwestern's all-time greats, was said to have removed himself from consideration. Graham, Cleveland Browns quarterback, has said last year was his last in pro ball.

Besides Saban, other candidates mentioned were Bob Reihsen, Voigts' line coach for five years; Carl Plath, Evanston high school coach; and Chuck Palmer, veteran Chicago High School coach.

Columbus Rolls Past Fulton Cagers, 62-50

Murphy Gets 26 for Losers; Grady Girls Trim Fulton

By JOE EBERHARDT

Fred Murphy was a bright star in the Redbird sky Friday night, but the Blue Devils from Columbus pushed their way to a 62-50 win over Fulton.

Murphy scored 26 points to take high-scoring honors from Larry Kirkland, who dropped in 21. The Blue Devils gained an early lead over Fulton and maintained it right to the end.

Joe George of Columbus scored six points in the first quarter to account for a lead which Fulton could never erase. Clark Royer, Columbus center, then tallied nine in the second quarter.

Murphy scored nine in the first half and then caught fire in the third frame and dropped in 15 points, only to have Kirkland push six field goals through to better him one point.

Frank Robinson who had been slow starting took dead aim and dropped in three goals to help the Blue Devil cause. He was aided by two looping scores by Jake McWaters.

Ronnie Terrell and Don Sparrow were the ball-hawks of the night and helped fill the space left by Columbus' long distance sharpshooters. Don Haygood and Jim Daniel did good work down court, aided by sub Charles Wright.

The Grady High girls' team beat Fulton in the opener, 40-30, with Roselen Moltack scoring 16 and Pat Atkinson 11, combining ability to outscore Fulton's Ema Jean Lott who had 18.

Furman Picks Lewis Martin As Trainer

Lewis Martin of Atlanta was named head trainer at Furman University Friday by Athletic Director Homer Hobbs.

Though he is only 22, Martin has nine years of experience as a trainer. He was student trainer at O'Keefe high for five years before moving to the University of Georgia, where he has assisted Sam Richwine for the past four seasons.

Martin received the highest recommendations from Richwine and Hank Langston, former O'Keefe coach. In fact, Langston said Martin was the best trainer to work for him in 31 years as a coach.

Pettett Leads Marietta Five Past Griffin

Special to The Constitution

GRIFFIN, Feb. 4—Marietta's Blue Devils stayed in the thick of the Region 4-AA basketball scuffle by virtue of a 57-53 victory over the Griffin Eagles here Friday night. The Griffin girls won the preliminary, 42-38.

Marietta's Tall Tommy Pettett, 6-4 worth of flashy forward, was big man in the Devils' game with 20 points, including seven field goals and six free throws. Griffin's Boyd Goss, with 19 points, gave Pettett some hot competition for scoring honors. Goss, standing 6-3½, is a guard.

Griffin opened the fray with a splash, and lead the Devils after the first quarter, 12-7. Marietta knotted it at the half, 26-26, and the lead was swapped back and forth during the third period. The Devils went into the final quarter with a 44-41 edge, and were never headed again.

This win placed Marietta in

Chamblee Takes Two

Chamblee High School rocked Avondale, 61-43, in the loser's gym Friday night, the visiting girls also winning, 44-41.

The victory was Chamblee's ninth in region 4-A West play against five losses. Avondale's record is just the reverse, 5-9.

Bobby Brown led all scorers for Chamblee with 22 points followed by teammate Tommy Jones with 18. Oliver Mitchell led Avondale with 12.

In the girls' game, Chamblee's Betty Catagne and Avondale's Nancy Coyle each scored 22.

North Fulton Tumbles Visiting Albany Indians

Bulldogs Outlast Fiery Close, 61-58

By DON BAIRD

North Fulton's Bulldogs made the first night of a weekend up North a complete failure Friday night for a spirited tribe of Albany Indians, 61-58.

Fred Fussell's league-leaders from Buckhead went all out in the first half to disappoint the South Georgians, but found themselves counting every field goal worthwhile dividend when the Indians surged back in vain after intermission.

North Fulton's lassies and cross-town Southwest turned their last minute into an effort to collect as many points as possible. A thriller all the way, North Fulton played see-saw in the final 60 seconds to win, 51-49 with Ann Fulton collecting 22 points. Carol Deal also got 17 for the winners, while ever-consistent Martha Tovell got a high total of 33 in losing.

Headed by Joe Marco, Joe Milner, Clyde Mynatt and company, the Bulldogs began guiding their long-range missles direct into the basket at the sound of the opening whistle. But 6-4 Archie Cobb began collecting some direct contacts with the nets himself, and the Indians got back into the game.

North Fulton soared to a 18-12 first-quarter lead, ended the half with a handsome 32-23 margin. Bulldog subs came onto the floor en masse early in the third and that's when the Indians took advantage.

With two minutes remaining in the third quarter, fielders by Cobb and Don Hoie had pulled the Indians up into 40-43 striking distance. Cobb added two free throws, but Milner popped one himself and a field goal soon after. The third quarter lapsed looking more like a ball game, 46-44, favoring the Bulldogs.

Milner collected 10 of his high total 21 points in the fourth quarter, mostly on tip-ins, furnishing the aid that finally pulled the Bulldogs ahead to stay, although the greatest margin they led in that stanza was 52-46, when four minutes remained.

Three Atlanta Teams Routed in Savannah

Bass, Murphy, Northside Knocked Off in Cage Raid

Special to The Constitution

SAVANNAH, Feb. 4—Atlanta's three-team invasion of Savannah was an utter failure here Friday night, as Savannah High's Blue Jackets rolled over Bass' hapless Warriors, 78-35, Benedictine's Cadets eased past Northside's Tigers, 56-50, and Commercial's Cobras shocked Murphy's Eagles, 81-64.

The results of the first two games were not unexpected, but the Murphy loss—particularly the margin—was a surprise.

Gary Allen racked up 23 points for the Blue Jackets. The Warriors, Region 3-AA northern division cellar-dwellers, were never in the game. At 35-19, it already was a rout at halftime. High-scoring Harry Lockwood was stopped cold by Savannah defenders and could manage but one lone point.

Northside and Benedictine, each a weakling in its own region, battled on closer terms, but the Cadets sparked by Billy Knight's 16 points and Charlie Moore's 14, had a little too much for the Atlantans. Bud Callier, with 14, and Lester Simmerville, with 10, led the Tigers.

The Cobras stopped Murphy but couldn't contain Paul Cochran, the state's highest Class AA scorer. The hook-shot artist poured in 32 points.

Murphy, largely through Cochran's accuracy, hit for a commendable 40 per cent from the floor, but couldn't overcome the rebounding superiority of the taller Cobras and the sharpshooting of William Short, who tossed in 29 points, and 5-5 guard Max Tootle, who got 22.

Gavilan Tops Durando on Split Verdict

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. (AP)—Kid Gavilan came off a three-month layoff to stage a furious last-minute rally that won a 10-round split dicision over slugger Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The verdict was greeted with a storm of boos from the good-sized crowd. Gavilan weighed 152½. Durando 160¼.

The former welter champ from Cuba needed all his ring savvy and an old style closing spurt to pull the decision out of the fire against the 4 to 1 underdog. There were no knockdowns but the action was hot most of the way with Durando always pressing onward while the Keed fought in gusts as usual.

There was a surprising split among the officials that produced roars of disapproval from the crowd of 6,208 paying $21,956.

Judge Bert Grant had it 6-4 for Gavilan and Judge Artie Aidala 5-4-1 for Gavilan. However, Referee Mark Conn scored it lopsided in favor of Durando, 7-3. The AP card had Gavilan on top 5-4-1.

Guard Is a Solid Post In Bulldog Forward Wall

Unusual Depth Permits Wright To Shuffle Top Candidates

By ROBERT WYNN
Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Feb. 4—Guards for every situation, that's why Georgia line coach Harry Wright is a happy man this winter. Two years ago, Wright, who tutors the guards, had trouble finding two ablebodied operatives to suit up every Saturday.

Next fall, from what he's seen in spring practice thus far, Wright can shuffle his material in order to face any possible move or type of play by the opposition.

The rapid improvement of quick, powerful Wayne Dye of Augusta is one reason. An extra 10 or so pounds on Tony Cushenberry's lean frame is another. And a third is the continued improvement of last year's regulars—Len Spadafino and Don Shea.

Here's the basic idea behind the strategic deployment of the four guards—all of whom are capable of starting.

Dye and Spadafino at 182 are light, but very, very quick. Shea at 205 and Cushenberry at 197 are bulkier, although Cushenberry, the Albany junior, has great mobility.

The plan calls for use of a big man and a little man together, with the fast guard maneuvering to cover the big man. However, Wright said, it's also pissible to break up the combinations.

"If somebody tries to go wide on us, we'll use both Spadafino and Dye and they'll be making tackles all over the place," he said, "Actually, they're two of the best little guards I've ever seen."

It might also turn out that if an opponent tries to overpower Georgia down the middle, the two big men would be put in.

The guard tandems were set up last year. Shea, Georgia's alternate captain for next season, and Spadafino, an Army returnee, had the most experience and they were the regulars. Dye and Cushenberry, the latter still a lightweight, were right behind and drawing closer as the season closed.

Now the pairs work well together and will probably stay put although a letup by anyone could drop him in the order of substitution.

In this situation, it's hard to picture any newcomers breaking in ahead of seniors Shea and Spadafino and juniors Dye and Cushenberry. Lettermen George Mitchell, a junior, and seniors Willie Fowler and Joe Graff are all returning and anxious to play.

It's a very pretty picture, Wright agrees.

POWDER SPRINGS, Feb. 4—Little McEachern High wrote its name in the Cobb County basketball record book Friday night at Powder Springs.

Coach Hershel Davis' flashy quintet trounced Douglas County 83-38 and became the first boys' team in Cobb history to complete a regular season with a perfect record.

The lop-sided triumph was the 18th in a row for unbeaten McEachern, which will be gunning for the county title in the annual tournament at Marietta next week.

Douglas County gained a split in the basketball doubleheader, however, for its girls' team breezed to a 52-44 decision. Westbrook poured in 30 points for the winners, and McEachern's Betty Varner bagged 21.

Sharpshooting center Bobby Slay was the big gun for the McEachern boys. He collected 30 points, seven more than teammate Herbert Savage. Hildebrand netted 17 points for Douglas County.

McEachern (83)		Douglas Co. (38)
H. Savage (23)	F	Burnett (0)
Jordan (9)	F	Vinc (9)

Druid Hills Trims Marist

Elmer Morrow breathed a sigh of relief as the buzzer sounded, ending a nip-and-tuck battle between his Druid Hills Red Devils and Marist Friday night. It was over, and the board showed, Druid Hills, 38; Marist, 35.

The Druid Hills girls also took the preliminary affair from Sacred Heart, 49-42.

Joe Sewell was the only Red Devil to break into the double-digit column. He had 17 points, as did Marist's Ray Galvin.

There was never more than a five-point difference throughout the game, and until the half, it see-sawed with no more than a point spread in either direction.

Jean Strickland's 25 points was a determining factor in the Druid girls' victory, although Mary Kay Judy hit 18 for Sacred Heart.

Jordan and Central Humble Atlantans

Grady, Sylvan Tumbled By Underdog Bi-City Fives

By ELLWOOD MOYER
Special to The Constitution

COLUMBUS, Feb. 4—Grady and Sylvan, supposedly two of Atlanta's high school basketball giants, suffered embarrassing defeats at the hands of underdog Bi-City teams here Friday night.

Grady dropped a 43-37 decision to Jordan at the Jordan gym here, and, across the river in Phenix City, Sylvan was defeated decisively, 62-46, by Central. Both were stunning upsets.

Grady couldn't find the basket in the early stages of the game, while Jordan, which had won only three of 11 games, was running up a 16-2 lead. The Gray Knights didn't get a field goal until over three minutes of the second half had elapsed.

Jordan had the score doubled at the halftime, 28-14, but the Knights rallied in the two final frames to play the Jackets on even terms. They twice narrowed the margin to eight points in the third quarter, at 30-22 and 34-26, but never got any nearer.

The plight of Lester Breen and Jack Rudolph was typical of the team's. Breen could manage only 11 points, one of his lowest totals of the year, and Rudolph, who didn't start the game, scored just three.

For Jordan, Billy Anderson and Homer Shellnut, with 12 points apiece, and Marvin Allen, with 11, led the way. Allen and Jackie Slayton were newcomers to the Red Jacket starting lineup.

Across the river, Sylvan's southern division kingpins had an even rougher time. Big Jerald Hawkins and tiny Sammy Chester, with 12 and 11 points performed smartly in a losing cause, but Rausey Mason, usually an effective point-getter, was held to six.

Frank Bailey netted 22 points to lead the Phenix City team, and Jerry Carden scored 16 to bring his season point total to 433. The victory was Central's ninth in 21 games.

Central (62)		Sylvan (46)
Brooks (10)	F	Duvall (6)
Carden (16)	F	Davis (4)
Johnson (0)	C	Hawkins (12)
Bailey (22)	G	Mason (6)

Dalton Falls To Decatur In 4-AA Go

Five Catamount Starters Ousted

By RED MULLINS

Decatur's Bulldogs withstood a late game surge by Dalton's Catamounts to put a tense 63-58 basketball victory in the Region 4-AA books at the Decatur gym Friday night. Decatur's girls eased past Russell, 46-40, in a preliminary attraction.

It was apparent from the very beginning that a close, hard-fought battle was in the offing. The count was knotted seven times in the first quarter and again at the period's end, 16-16. Flashy Decatur center Joe DeFoor and Catamount forward Freddie Pankey finished as high scorers for the two teams with 24 and 20 points. Each scored eight in the opening frame.

Frank Smith, Dalton's star, fouled out just moments after the second period began and his absence immediately made a difference. Decatur, with DeFoor and Don Keiser setting the pace, pulled out front and by halftime had widened the gap to 37-25.

Smith was only the first of all five Dalton's starters to foul out. Despite the ever-increasing number of subs in the lineup, the Catamounts somehow managed to stay in the game and late in the fourth pulled to within three points. But then the final Catamount first-stringer got the referee's axe and time ran out with the Bulldogs still holding on.

Decatur (63)		Dalton (58)
Keiser (11)	F	Pankey (20)
Putman (13)	F	Bright (10)
DeFoor (24)	C	Raulston (6)
Fladger (0)	G	Smith (0)
Critchett (6)	G	Godfrey (13)

Score at half: Decatur 37, Dalton 25.
Subs: Decatur—Evans (7), Kalb (2), Britt, Mason. Dalton—Roberts (4), Arnold (3), Evans (1), Camp (1), Moon.

Sharon Baptists Plan Ultra-Modern Building

By LAURA BARRE

One of Atlanta's oldest Baptist churches plans to construct one of Atlanta's most modern church buildings.

Sharon Baptist Church, fourth oldest church in the Atlanta Baptist Assn., will construct a $275,000 red brick church plant at the corner of Campbellton road and Sandringham drive, SW.

The church has been located at the corner of Gordon and Hightower roads, SW, since 1866.

The new building, which was designed by the Southern Baptist Convention's department of church architecture, Nashville, will include a sanctuary, an educational building, a chapel and a covered porch and patio for outdoor services.

Construction on the educational building is expected to begin in about two weeks. E. M. Cofer, chairman of the church building committee, said the entire plant is to be constructed within two years.

Fred J. Pickelsimer of Atlanta is the contractor.

The sanctuary will seat 600 and the educational building will provide classroom space for 600 persons. The church has about 1,100 members, Cofer said.

Dr. William G. Studer is pastor of the church, which is one of the fastest-growing churches i nthe southwest Atlanta area.

West Manor Baptists Call Rev. Johnson

The Rev. Pat A. Johnson has accepted a call to become pastor of West Manor Baptist Church here. He will assume his duties Sunday.

Rev. Pat Johnson

The Rev. Mr. Johnson has been pastor of First Baptist Church, Ludowici, since last June. During his pastorate the church added 47 new members and established a 35-member mission.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson was pastor of the Douglasville First Baptist Church for 11 years before going to Ludowici.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist Convention and holds degrees from the University of Alabama and Southwestern Baptist Seminary.

West Manor church is located at the corner of Sewell road and Lynhurst drive, SW.

Ussery has been a Methodist steward for 20 years. He is a past district and conference lay leader and at present he is director of stewardship for the Alabama Methodist Conference.

He also is a trustee of the Protestant Radio Center, Atlanta, and of LaGrange College, LaGrange.

Church School

A school of Christian growth will be held at Columbia Presbyterian Church, Decatur, Feb. 9-15.

The school is sponsored by 10 Presbyterian churches in the Decatur area.

Courses to be offered include visual education, music, teaching methods and Bible understanding.

Classes will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Feb. 9-11, 14 and 15. Columbia Church is located on Columbia drive at the corner of Kirk road. The church pastor, the Rev. James Hazelwood, is dean of the school.

BWA Vice President

Dr. Wilfred L. Jarvis, vice president of the Baptist World Alliance and former president of the Baptist Union of Australia, will make three addresses here Sunday.

He will preach at 11 a.m. at Druid Hills Baptist Church. At 3 p.m. he will speak in the Spelman College chapel, and at 7:30 p.m. he will preach at Decatur First Baptist Church.

He will address the Atlanta Baptist ministers conference at 11 a.m. Monday in Sheffield Clinic, Georgia Baptist Hospital.

Dr. Jarvis served 18 years as pastor of Central Baptist Church in Sydney, the oldest Baptist church in Australia.

He is en route to London, England, where he will attend the jubilee congress of the Baptist World Alliance in July. While in Atlanta he is the guest of Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Church and American vice president of the alliance.

Bible Festival

A three-day Bible festival for church school workers and members and parents will be held at St. Mark Methodist Church Sunday through Tuesday.

Courses to be offered and their teachers are as follows:

"Children and the Bible," Mrs. John C. Goode of Richmond, Va.; "Interpreting the Bible to Youth," Dr. Jack S. Boozer of Emory University, and "The Life of Jesus," Dr. Albert Barnett of Emory's Candler School of Theology.

Don't Neglect Slipping FALSE TEETH

Do false teeth drop, slip or wobble when you talk, eat, laugh or sneeze? Don't be annoyed and embarrassed by such handicaps. FASTEETH, an alkaline (non-acid) powder to sprinkle on your plates, keeps false teeth more firmly set. Gives confident feeling of security and added comfort. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

METHODIST

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Pierce Harris, preaching — Harry Armstrong, leading the great choir

"GOD AT THE FIRESIDE—— A FAITH FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY"

Here is what hundreds have been waiting for—our annual series that has to do with Love—Courtship—Marriage—and Happy Home Life. When religion "has its day in court," homes are spared from dismal days in a "divorce court"—and many hearts are saved from the hurt and unhappiness that millions have suffered.

OVERFLOWING CROWDS—Already we are overflowing. Each Sunday people are turned away from the sanctuary into supplimentary auditoriums. Still they come! We expect this February to be the greatest in the fifteen-year history of these wonderful services on "Religion in the Home."

WONDERFUL MUSIC! INSPIRED SINGING OF THE OLD GOSPEL SONGS!

Special numbers at each service—songs that warm the heart and set the fires to burning on the hearthstones of home. You will be thrilled and blessed. HARRY ARMSTRONG will direct the choir and lead the great congregations.

Don't miss even one of these services. You come—we will take care of you—you will want to attend them all. Bring a friend.

Start With Us Next Sunday Night

Feb. 6th 8 P. M.—"THE THINNEST WEDDING RING—SHOULD BE THICK ENOUGH TO LAST A LIFETIME"

Feb. 13th 8 P. M.—"A HOUSE IS JUST A RESIDENCE—IT TAKES RELIGION TO MAKE IT A HOME"

Feb. 20th 8 P. M.—"PARENTHOOD HAS ITS PROBLEMS—BUT GOD HAS THE ANSWER TO THEM ALL"

Feb. 27th 8 P. M.—"THAT HAPPY GOLDEN HOUR—WHEN THE CHILDREN COME BACK TO CALL US BLESSED"

Make your plans now—mark it on your calendar. Seven homes go to pieces in Atlanta every twenty-four hours. One of them might be YOURS. We have a nursery open at both services—morning and night—bring the children. Remember—the theme for the month is—

Market Advances With Key Issues

Du Pont Up $6.25; Buying New GM Shares; Rails Off

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—The stock market rammed ahead to a new high today in a general advance highlighted by exceptional strength of many individual issues.

Most major divisions were higher. Railroads were an exception.

The steels, oils, coppers, and motors were higher, and some chemicals and aircrafts were strong.

Main performers today were General Motors up 3½ to 101⅜ and Du Pont up 6¼ at 168.

Du Pont showed no reaction when the government appealed the Chicago court decision which dismissed the anti-trust suit against Du Pont.

Both Du Pont and General Motors began to climb strongly after Du Pont announced it intended to subscribe to the million shares of new GM stock being distributed on the basis of one new share for each 20 shares held. Du Pont owns 20 million shares of GM. Price of the GM offering will be announced late Monday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.20 at a new high of $157.20. It was off 10 cents yesterday. That tops the previous high set Tuesday by 40 cents and is only 50 cents under the all-time high established by the average on Sept. 3, 1929. Today's level is the second highest on record.

The industrial component of the average was up $2.50 at a new high of $217.40, utilities were up 30 cents at a new high of $69.40, but the railroads declined 10 cents at $120.10.

Bell Aircraft was up 2 at 33⅝. The company yesterday took the wraps off of its new vertical jet plane. The stock opened late on a block of 40,000 shares up 3⅜ at 35¼.

Solons See After Georgia's Belongings in Tennessee

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 4 (AP)—Georgia legislators learned today that the property the state of Georgia owns in this Tennessee city is all present and accounted for, and on top of that it's in "excellent condition."

The lawmakers' visit was their traditional, annual inspection of property Georgia obtained rights to long before the War Between the States.

The trip by 110 legislators, their wives and guests, was carried out as a "regular owner's inspection to determine whether their properties are in good condition and being properly administered." The Georgia Legislature recessed especially for the visit.

PROPERTY LEASED

John M. Neal, Atlanta superintendent of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway, said the property is leased from Georgia through the railroad.

The two-day inspection includes Union Station, the Plaza Hotel, the new Tennessee Valley Authority Building and other properties between Market street and Union Station up to Ninth street, Neal said.

Georgia property in Chattanooga also includes the NC&STL tracks into the city from the Georgia state line to the depot, Neal said.

BOUGHT IN 1836

The property, bought in the name of the Western & Atlantic Railway, was purchased by Georgia under a legislative act dated Dec. 21, 1836—at a time when Chattanooga was known as Ross' Landing.

"The purpose of the thing," Neal said, "was to seek a railway to some point on the eastern bank of the Tennessee River at its closest point to Georgia."

GOP Leaders To Discuss Patronage

Georgia Republican leaders will meet here Saturday and attempt to settle patronage disputes under an admonition from the GOP National Committee to make their own decisions.

The Republican State Central Committee meeting will start at 2 p.m., at the Fulton County Courthouse to settle patronage disputes resulting from conflicting recommendations by State Chairman William B. Shartzer and National Committeeman W. R. Tucker.

Meanwhile, James F. McKillips, assistant to Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall, denied that Hall has recognized an Eighth District GOP faction headed by the Rev. J. F. Mann of Brunswick.

"I am authorized by the chairman to say that never in the past, present or future has he or will he recognize any faction in any district or county dispute," McKillips said.

"The National Committee policy is to leave such disputes strictly to the state committees involved. The National Committee has enough trouble with 48 states and does not intend to become involved in the county or district disputes," he added.

Barnaby Hill, secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, had been quoted as saying Hall by letter had recognized the Mann faction in the Eighth District.

Hill late Friday night denied having said Hall personally had recognized the Mann faction. But he did say that the National Committee has recognized Mann and has made appointments upon Mann's endorsement since Mann's election as Eighth District chairman.

The Post Office Department has hired persons bearing Mann's endorsement, Hill added.

Mann's authority to serve as district chairman has been disrupted by J. M. Kent of Sea Island, head of a rival GOP faction in the district.

State Hires 30 Auditors In Tax Drive

He is checking the receipts of the wholesalers against those of the retailers.

Another development on the state's financial front Friday saw a bill hit the House hopper to simplify the method of filing state income taxes.

PERCENTAGE BASIS

Richmond Rep. Carl Sanders would have individuals and corporations in Georgia pay the state a certain percentage of the amount of income taxes they pay the federal government. This would eliminate the necessity of Georgians' filing lengthy state income tax returns.

Sanders' bill proposed that Georgians who pay less than $500 in federal income taxes should pay 3 per cent of their federal amount to the state. Those who pay from $500 to $1,000 in federal income taxes would pay the state 5 per cent.

Those who pay from $1,000 to $2,000 in federal taxes would pay the state 7 per cent; those who pay the federal government $2,000 to $3,000 would pay 9 per cent, and those who pay the federal government more than $3,000 would pay 10 per cent of such amount to the state government.

Georgians wouldn't pay any more or less taxes than they now are paying, Rep. Sanders thinks. The bill would just simplify their returns.

FEARS PLAN

"There is much legal opinion to the effect that the state Legislature would be delegating to the national Congress the rate of taxation for income tax purposes," Williams commented.

"If this legal theory were correct, the act would be unconstitutional. Upon repeal of our present income tax laws by enacting this law, we would lose the $25,000,000 we are getting from income taxes annually—if the new bill were held unconstitutional."

Williams said he favors simplifying the returns, but he doesn't want to jeopardize the state's revenue.

Must Let World Know Our Religion--Graham

By LAURA BARRE

Americans are a religious people—more so now than ever before—and they must let the world know it, Evangelist Billy Graham said here Friday.

The 36-year-old evangelist who has preached to millions is here to make four recordings for his radio program, "The Hour of Decision."

"We have spread abroad so much unfavorable propaganda about ourselves that people of other nations do not realize we are a religious people," he said. "They wonder about our moral and spiritual fitness for world leadership.

"There is a tremendous religious renaissance going on here now. We must take that religion and translate it into everyday living," he said.

'MORAL PARADISE'

"If all of America's 100,000,000 church members lived a Christian life, this nation would be a "moral paradise."

He pointed out that last April 7, the last time a survey of church attendance was made, 75,000,000 Americans were in church.

"That is 14,000,000 more people than voted in the last election," he said.

Graham said Russia, too, seems to be in the midst of a great spiritual awakening, and that, although we apparently cannot deal with the Russians on a diplomatic level, the time may come when we can meet them on a spiritual basis.

The evangelist, asked to explain his ability to draw great throngs to hear him, said "I'm just a North Carolina farm boy. I have no answer except that the spirit of God brings them."

'HUNGRY TO KNOW GOD'

"People come because they are hungry to know about God," he said.

He called on American Christians to "be much in prayer for our fellow Christians on Formosa and the Tachen Islands."

Chiang Kai-shek, whatever we may think of his political views, is a devout Christian and he has done much to spread Christianity throughout that part of Asia," he said. "In 1946 there were four missionaires on Formosa. Now there are more than 400."

He also urged Americans to pray for President Eisenhower "in the tremendous decisions he is called upon to make."

In March he will begin a six-month campaign in Britain and Europe. He said he would like to hold another revival here (he held one here four years ago) but his schedule is full for the next year.

New Decatur Minister From Albany

The Rev. T. N. Keels will assume his duties as minister of evangelism for Decatur Presbyterian Church next week.

He comes to Atlanta from Albany, where he has been pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church for several years.

He succeeds Dr. Bruce C. Boney at Decatur church.

A native of Columbia, S.C., the Rev. Mr. Keels is 47 years old. He is married to the former Miss Emma Gordon McCutcheon. They have two children, Emma Gordon, nine, and John Englis, six.

The Rev. Mr. Keels is a graduate of Presbyterian College and Columbia Theological Seminary. He holds a Master of Theology degree from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

He has served pastorates in Bethune, S.C.; Fort Payne, Ala.; Wauchula, Fla., and Troy, Ala., in addition to his Albany pastorate.

He and his family will live temporarily at 325 S. Candler St., Decatur.

The Rev. Mr. Keels will preach his first sermon at the Decatur church at 8:45 a.m. Sunday.

Family Services

St. Martin-in-the-Fields Episcopal Church will begin holding regular family services at 9:30 a.m. Sunday in addition to the regular 8 and 11 a.m. services.

The church recently elected three men to serve three-year terms as vestrymen.

They are R. B. Caughman, Charles A. Peacock and James Thornton.

Paul H. Evans has been named senior warden of the church. Other officers are Jack Henry, junior warden; Caughman, secretary, and Brewster F. Stribling, treasurer.

Lutheran Workshop

The senior league of Peachtree Road Lutheran Church will conduct a workshop on personal and devotional resources at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the church.

Purpose of the workshop is to prepare Lenten devotional booklets for church members.

A reorganizational meeting of the church council will be held Monday evening. New officers and committee chairman will be named and plans for the coming year will be made.

Cordele Gets Ex-Tax Agent As Policeman

Meanwhile, two members of the city police force have been suspended pending outcome of an investigation to determine whether local law enforcement officers were involved "in bootleg trouble" here.

City commission authorized Police Chief Mike Thornton to hire Johnson "if he (Thornton) needed him and if the usual check given new members of the force showed him to be eligible."

One member of the commission emphasized the local governmental group "didn't tell and doesn't tell the chief to hire or not to hire anybody. The decision was entirely up to Mr. Thornton."

Names of the two suspended policemen were withheld pending results of the investigation.

Chief Thornton confirmed today that Johnson had been hired as a patrolman and "will go to work tonight."

Johnson was dismissed by Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams for what Williams termed "economy reasons." However, at least one Crisp County official said he thought it was "a mighty strange coincidence" that Johnson's dismissal came in the midst of what was reported as "a widespread bootleg investigation."

Williams accused the Cordele city commission of "hollering the loudest" about Johnson's dismissal. Williams' final answer to insistent pleas Johnson be rehired was:

"Cleveland Johnson will not work with this department. That's it. Period."

Here and There With Churches

The Rev. Paul H. Cranford, pastor of Jackson Hill Baptist Church, will continue his series of sermons on the women of the Bible with a sermon on Rebekah at 11 a.m. and one on Delilah at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. . . . Sam Harrison, director of Camp Glisson, Methodist camp near Dahlonega, will speak and show slides on the camp at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at North Decatur Methodist Church. . . . The Rev. B. S. Hodges Jr. of the General Council of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., will speak at West End Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. Sunday. . . . A missions deputation from Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, will have charge of the 7:30 p.m. service at Inman Park Presbyterian Church Sunday. . . . A motion picture based on missionary work in India will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Hapeville Presbyterian Church. . . . A special Boy Scout service will be held at Capitol View Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. . . . Clyde Waters, Tucker businessman and a member of Tucker Baptist Church, will speak at Tanners Baptist Church at 11 a.m. Sunday. . . . Dr. Marc Lovelace, assistant professor of archaeology at Southwestern Baptist Seminary, will preach at Wieuca Road Baptist Church at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday. . . . Dr. Roy O. McClain, pastor of First Baptist Church, and Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist Church, will be speakers at the North Carolina evangelistic conference to be held in Greensboro, N.C., Monday through Wednesday.

Pastor's Anniversary

The Rev. Bonneau H. Dickson will celebrate his 12th anniversary as pastor of Rock Spring Presbyterian Church Sunday. His congregation will honor him with a reception following the 7:30 p.m. service.

70 Age Limit For Workers In Farm Unit

Employes over 70 years of age will not be retained in the State Department of Agriculture, Commissioner Phil Campbell announced Friday.

Campbell said he has sent letters out to all employes who have reached their 70th birthday that it will not be the department's policy to keep them on the payroll.

The commissioner said he did not give them dismissal notices, but informed them of the policy and offered to help them with retirement plans. There are about 20 such over-age employes in the department, he said, most of them inspectors scattered over the state.

Pulpwood Truck Controls Asked

A bill that would put log and pulpwood-hauling trucks under the same load restrictions as other highway freighters was introduced in the House Friday.

Sponsored by Rep. R. A. Harrell of Grady County, the legislation would subject the wood-carrying vehicles to the same load limits—including height, width, length axle weight and total weight—as common carriers.

The bill further would require that the log, pole or pulpwood load be secured by at least two chains to keep the freight from shifting or coming loose.

KIDS GO WILD

Felony Charge for Bootleg Operations Proposed in Bill

A bill that would place felony rather than misdemeanor penalties on Georgia bootleggers has been introduced in the House.

The bootlegging bill, introduced by Rep. Mac Barber of Jackson, would penalize first offenders $2,000 or three years in jail; second offenders, $5,000 or five years or both and third offenders, 10 to 20 years.

The present misdemeanor penalty for manufacture, sale or transportation of illegal whisky is a maximum of 18 months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Revenue Commissioner T. V. (Red) Williams declined to comment on the proposal. Capitol observers, however, predicted the bill has little chance of passage.

Administration leaders introduced a bill that would require a hearing on revocation of beer manufacturing licenses. The bill also provides that a firm's license for distribution within the state could be revoked separately from its right to make the beverage.

Both the sponsors and Williams said the bill would tend to encourage manufacturers to come to Georgia, but would not increase beer consumption in the state.

Litterbug Punishment Provided in House Bill

"Litterbugs" may be outlawed in Georgia.

Administration leaders Friday placed a bill in the House hopper which would make it a crime to toss trash, garbage or other substance on public roads or public property in this state. Violators would be punished as for a misdemeanor.

Stone Mountain Back Tax Due Under DeKalb Ruling

By BRUCE GALPHIN

• County Attorney Pierce Howard Friday cleared the way for DeKalb County to start proceedings to collect tens of thousands of dollars in back taxes on Stone Mountain.

In answer to a request by the county board of tax assessors he ruled: "All property in the county should be assessed and put in the tax books. Any exemptions must then be claimed by the taxpayer."

The decision shifts from the county to the Venable heirs the burden of producing an option in which former Commissioner Scott Candler supposedly waived taxes on the property.

An order signed by Candler dated Sept. 18, 1945, instructed the county to pay state taxes on the property and relieved the owners of DeKalb taxes. The waivers were said to be consideration for the option.

But the option cannot be found in DeKalb County records.

If the mountain's owners can produce the document, County Attorney Howard will still have to rule on its validity. Should the option prove invalid, then the county could collect at least seven years' taxes and possibly more.

Howard did not say whether the owners or the former commissioner would be liable in such a case.

At any rate, the Venable heirs will have to pay property taxes for 1955. The option is reported to have expired Jan. 31, 1954.

DeKalb has no evaluation of the Stone Mountain property.

Assessors H. H. Howard, H. L. Mosteller and Edgar Barrett said they could not give an immediate estimate of the yearly tax on Stone Mountain, although they agreed it would be "considerable."

Fulton Jail Bulges They Nap on Floor

Overcrowded conditions at the Fulton County jail Friday were forcing prisoners to sleep on the floor.

Sheriff T. R. Grimes said the jail had 502 prisoners on hand and that 13 prisoners in recent nights had to sleep on mattresses and blankets laid on floors in some cell blocks.

The jail has a capacity of 525, the sheriff explained. But because of the necessity of segregating juvenile offenders and hardened criminals, some cell blocks are overcrowded while others are filled.

SLOW MOTION?

Cause of the overcrowding was laid to the failure of the State Board of Corrections to speedily move prisoners out of state institutions after they are sentenced in courts.

Grimes said he had contacted board officials about the matter and had received assurances that the prisoners would be moved as soon as possible. "But they're still here," he added.

More than 200 prisoners now at the jail already are under sentence and are awaiting transfer to state prisons, Sheriff Grimes explained.

The state board is responsible for transporting the prisoners to state prisons, the sheriff said. But he declared that if the state will furnish him with the necessary commitment papers, "I'll send a load of them to Reidsville myself."

The county transported several loads of prisoners to Tattnall State Prison during the Christmas holidays to avert overcrowding while the courts were recessed, he said.

SHORT 8 GUARDS

Sheriff Grimes also revealed the county still has not hired eight additional deputies for jail guards which are provided for in the 1955 budget. Hiring of more guards was recommended by a recent grand jury following several incidents among prisoners.

Meanwhile, the sheriff said: "We're having to guard our prisoners the best we can."

County officials indicated, however, they plan to "go slow" on establishing any new positions until the Legislature makes final disposition of a pending bill which would require counties to take care of their own misdemeanor prisoners.

County Manager A. E. Fuller said the positions have not yet approved personnel forms officially establishing the additional guard positions.

He added that he had not been notified "of any emergency brought about by the increase of population" at the jail.

Fairman Man Chief Adjustor

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Alfred T. Pittman, Fairburn automobile equipment manufacturer, Friday was elected chairman of the Municipal Board of Adjustment.

Pittman is an appointee of the Fulton County Commission and serves as a member of the joint Atlanta-Fulton County board which handles appeals for hardship adjustments in zoning laws.

He succeeds A. C. Wellborn, who has served as chairman of the joint board since it was created three years ago. Wellborn nominated Pittman, saying "It is time for some other member to head the board." Pittman also has been a member of the board since it was organized. He has been active in civic and fraternal circles for many years.

The group approved the six petitions which were submitted. It congratulated Pittman, voting unanimously for his election and praising Wellborn for his "selfless service to the community."

Mayor to Washington

Mayor Hartsfield plans to leave Atlanta Sunday to attend a meeting of the Airport Sponsors Committee of the American Municipal Assn. in Washington Tuesday despite the fact that he is suffering from a painful sacroiliac. Hartsfield heads the committee which will attempt to get federal matching funds for improvement of air facilities in major cities. Doctors said the mayor's attack probably will last a week. They indicated it is not dangerous, but will remain extremely uncomfortable.

Playmakers Do Well in 'Applejack'

The Playmakers, making their second start in their first season, offered Walter Hackett's "Captain Applejack" for the approval of Atlanta show-goers Friday night at the Community Playhouse.

Directed by Tom Chadwick, who had been associated with all three of Atlanta's semi-professional groups, the new production by this newest theater group was effectively mounted and it gave several newcomers an opportunity to be seen in the local theater.

Frank Wittow gave a good account of himself as Ambrose Applejohn. Gini Paulson was effective in the feminine lead. Other standouts in the cast were John Downs, Noel Lambert, Bruce Wilshire and Jennie Clark.—P.J.

School Tax Boost Defeated in Rockdale

Constitution State News Service

CONYERS, Feb. 4—Rockdale County voters Friday defeated a proposal to raise the county school tax levy for educational purposes.

In a special election the proposal by the county board of education was defeated by 58 votes, 470 votes to 412. The unusually light vote showed Milstead and Town districts in favor of the tax raise with the three rural districts, Lorraine, Sheffield and Honey Creek against.

Churchmen Ask Tighter Reins on Park Parking

The Atlanta PTA Council and two church groups are asking the city to tighten regulations on "supervised parking" in city parks, including more patrolmen and more lights.

The PTA group joined with the Atlanta Assn. of Baptist Churches and the Atlanta Methodist Ministerial Assn. in the effort. Other measures they ask would (1) grant police authority to clear the parks after the lights go out at night; (2) give police and park supervisors authority to "investigate apparent irregularities of occupants in cars or on park premises."

Mrs. T. C. Sorrells, council president, said the measures were aimed at improving some conditions involved in the November, 1953, resolution passed by the Atlanta City Council, legalizing parking in city parks.

The resolution author, Alderman John A. White, said he is willing to cooperate with the groups.

CIRCLE K LEADER GREETS KIWANIS PRESIDENT
Gene Alford, Left, With Donald E. Engdahl

Back Churches, International Chief Tells Kiwanians Here

The president of Kiwanis International Friday called on all Kiwanians to support their churches by attending services, taking an active part in church work and whenever possible, serving on church boards.

Donald E. Engdahl, Spokane, Wash., businessman who has traveled more than 52,000 miles since August to visit Kiwanis Clubs over the country, spoke to the Northside Kiwanis Club at a luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel.

"Kiwanis was the first service club to have a church-support program, and it is one of the most important phases of our work," he said.

He also stressed the Kiwanis safety program, especially as it concerns highway safety, and its "ballot battalion" program designed to get more people to the polls on election days.

He urged Kiwanis members to support all worthwhile school bond issues.

He urged also that they support and encourage public officials. "This will accomplish two things," he said. "It will make the officials you have strive to be better, and it will encourage other worthy men to run for public office."

Engdahl also spoke Friday night in Marietta at a dinner meeting attended by members of all Kiwanis Clubs in the 11th division of the Georgia District.

Saturday morning he will confer with Gene Alford of Georgia Tech, international president of Kiwanis' college organization, the Circle-K Club.

He and Mrs. Engdahl will be guests of the Downtown Atlanta Kiwanis Club at a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club Saturday and then leave for Macon to visit Past International Kiwanis President Hamilton Holt.

Emory Lists 4 Major Music Events

Four major events in Emory University's chamber music series are scheduled this month.

Julia Worth

The Dublin Players from Dublin, Ireland, will present "Pygmalion" Monday and "The Far Off Hills" Tuesday.

Wednesday the I Musici chamber music orchestra will present a concert.

Pianist Nicole Henriot will give a concert Feb. 24.

All the programs will be held in Glenn Memorial Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. They are open to Emory students and friends.

The Dublin Players, now on their second American tour, have drawn talent from the Abbey and Gate Theaters of Ireland. Their founder and director is Shakespearean actor Ronald Ibbs, who will play Professor Higgins in George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Julia Worth, an Irish beauty who is the youngest member of the players, will play the part of the flower girl.

"The Far Off Hills," an Irish comedy by Lennox Robinson, will include in its cast some of Ireland's best known actors.

I Musici is a group of 12 young Italian musicians who are solo performers on string instruments and the piano. All are graduates of the Santa Cecilia in Rome.

Miss Henriot made her American debut with the New York Symphony in 1948. She has appeared with symphony orchestras throughout the country.

The final program in the series will be a concert by baritone Igor Gorin on April 14.

Textile Plant Use Of Atom Claimed

MOSCOW, Feb. 4 (AP)—A government statement published today said an atomic regulating device has been installed in a cotton textile plant in the Moscow suburbs.

"This is one of many examples of the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes in our country," said the statement in the newspaper Evening Moscow.

It said atomic energy was used to control the thickness of fiber passing through a cotton cleaning machine.

S. L. Hicks, Plow Firm Official, Dies

Stephen L. Hicks, secretary-treasurer of the King Plow Co. here, died Friday in an Atlanta hospital.

Mr. Hicks, 56, who lived at 99 Peachtree Memorial Dr., NW, was a native of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Formerly associated with the N. C. & St. L. Railway, he became connected with the plow company here about 1925. Three years later, he went to Havana, Cuba, to serve as assistant manager of the Havana Country Club.

He returned to Atlanta in 1941 and became head bookkeeper for King Plow Co.

He was a member of the Kiwanis and the Civitan Clubs, and was a Mason.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at Chattanooga.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Anna A. Hicks; a son, Lt. Burgess Hicks of the U.S. Air Force, Valdosta; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Dobbs and Mrs. Pearl Hassler of Chattanooga and Mrs. Roy Hoodenpyle of Signal Mountain, Tenn.; and two brothers, Leslie and Robert Hicks of Chattanooga.

Arthur Kern Of Chamblee Dies in Crash

Arthur H. Kern, 44, Chamblee insurance salesman, was killed late Thursday night when the automobile he was driving overturned near Manchester, the state patrol said.

Mr. Kern, a native of Rochester, N.Y., apparently died instantly when his car ran off the right shoulder of the road on Georgia Highway 85 and overturned, the officers said.

Patrolmen said Mr. Kern, who lived at 3780-B Clairmont Rd., Chamblee, was thrown out and the overturning auto crushed him.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eloise Kern; two sons, Joe and Lynn Kern; mother, Mrs. Mary H. Kern; father, A. J. Kern, both of Rochester, N.Y.; a sister, Mrs. Robert Parshall of E. Rochester, N.Y.; a brother, Floyd M. Kern of Rochester, N.Y.; and an aunt, Mrs. C. W. Wright of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Walter Harrison Dies at 92; Led In Building Field

Walter H. Harrison, 92, construction engineer who supervised the building of the federal prison in Atlanta, died Friday at Memphis, Tenn.

Harrison's engineering career centered chiefly in Georgia where he was instrumental in the construction of Georgia's first electrical line. At one time he was chief engineer of the Terminal Station here.

He moved to Memphis in 1907, later becoming superintendent of the Memphis Water department.

Honor Society Inducts 6 Northside Seniors

By BETTY CARROLLTON

It's honor time in Atlanta high schools.

Six Northside High seniors were inducted into the National Honor Society at impressive ceremonies held in the school auditorium.

Elaine Allison, Elizabeth Appleton, Bill Bugg Jr., George Cates, Carroll Langley and Barney Rickenbacker were tapped from over a hundred seniors for this honor.

Winkie Langston, president of the National Honor Society, presided over the service, which was attended by the entire student body and faculty.

Sam Fowlkes, Betty Born, Beverly Ferris and John Hirsch spoke on the ideals and purposes of the society, stressing the four qualifications necessary for membership: scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Members of the society, all of whom took part on the program, include: Lynn Gardner, Ann Black, Jimmy Roberts, Bo Stewart, Babs Avard, Pat Lambert and Ronald Hartley. Faculty sponsors are Miss Pauline Baker and Miss Mary Ballard.

Quill and Scroll Members

Eighteen Murphy High students have been honored by being tapped for membership in the Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society for high school journalists. Each student offered membership has a good scholastic standing and has done superior work on the school publications, the Eagle or the Azuwur.

Those selected for membership include Lynette Ard, Fred Ayers, Ann Bell, Charlotte Boyd, Joanne Graham, Carol Joy, Kenneth Kimbro, Beverly Knight, Dianna L'hereux, Dianne Linch, Dolores La Foy, Patsy Martin, Eloise Mason, Jay Mower, Eleanor Robertson, Rosalie Seymour, Margie Smith and Jan Williams.

DeWitt Brown has been elected president of the Cave Club at North Fulton High. Other officers include Jack Freeman, vice president; Tillie Page, secretary; Charles Breithaupt, treasurer, and Elizabeth Jones, head of club council. Mr. Bruce Armstrong is faculty adviser for the club.

Polishing Projects

Members of various school organizations at Hoke Smith High are polishing their projects with an eye toward the Senator Service Trophy.

Awarded to the club which has done the most for the school and community during the school year, the Service Trophy is rotated each year. When a club wins it for three consecutive years, the cup becomes that club's permanent possession.

For the two previous years, the Senator Service Trophy has been awarded to the Future Homemakers of America.

Bass Plans Balls

Two outstanding events on the school's social calendar are the formal Sweetheart Ball scheduled for Feb. 11 and the seniors' Blue-Jean Dance which will be held Feb. 25.

The third annual Sweetheart Ball is a project of the Bass Youth Council. Members are already hard at work on appropriate decorations for the ball, which will feature Cupid capers in the decor theme.

You've Got To Get Out of the Habit

By IDA JEAN KAIN

"I love bread and butter, potatoes and everything starchy. Is there any way to break the habit?"

Habit has tough fibers, and as Mark Twain advised, "Habit is not to be flung out the window, but must be coaxed downstairs a step at a time."

All right, let's begin coaxing the bread and butter habit down the scales. Most bread eaters are "two-fisted eaters"—that is, they like to hold a piece of bread and butter in the left hand and fork in the right. A forkful of good food is followed closely by a generous bite of good bread and butter, hot or cold. This can continue all through the meal. It's plain to see this practice doubles the calories.

To break the habit, eat the bread or the hot biscuit all by itself. It's surprising how that little trick will help you keep from eating more than your share of bread. And to check the reflex of reaching for another slice, serve your portion of bread and butter individually. When dining out, take the roll on your plate and request the waiter to remove the bread basket. If he's not around, don't take chances—take it over to another table.

At breakfast, instead of eating all toast or doughnuts (starch again), substitute protein for part of the starch. It is more slimming to have an egg and a piece of toast than it is to have two pieces of toast, because an egg furnishes protein which helps the body burn calories. Then, too, with protein at breakfast, there is an energy carry-over. You won't get so hungry during the morning or be tempted to overeat at lunch.

How long does it take to break a habit? It takes only about three days to form a habit . . . but a little longer to break one. However, if you will stay with the new rule, not permitting a single exception for six days, you are well on the way to forming a slimming habit.

For guidance in planning safe reducing menus, send long stamped, self-addressed envelope for SCIENTIFIC WONDER DIET and COMPLETE CALORIE CHART. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Atlanta Constitution. Post card requests cannot be answered.

IS SHE PAINTING A GIFT PICTURE?
WAC Capt. Dorothe L. Niebes Gives Work Away

No Present Problems For the Gifted WAC

By YOLANDE GWIN

Every little child clutching colored crayons in a hot little hand has expressed artistic talents by drawing wild animals in a jungle.

WAC Capt. Dorothe L. Niebes, assistant chief of the inspections division of the Third Army Provost Marshal section, is no exception.

"I'll never forget how proud I was of that picture," says the jolly and attractive WAC officer. "I was 5 years old. I really started my art studies then at the urging of my mother, who always said she could not draw her breath, but she wanted me to do better!"

ART RANKS HIGH

Capt. Niebes, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, has continued her art work and today ranks among the best. She has exhibited at the Cleveland Museum of Art and the Cleveland Institute of Art. She has also shown her work in a "Travel Exhibit" which made stops at more than 15 leading cities throughout the United States.

Art critics have likened the captain's art style to that of the modern Mexican artist, Diego Rivera.

"I traveled over 8,000 miles throughout Mexico and the West Indies and painted everything I could," she says. "Modern abstracts appeal to me. First thing I ever exhibited was a still life of a large vase of flowers. But that's nothing unusual. Don't you think everybody has drawn a vase of flowers?"

ARMY IN 1942

Specializing in drama, art and sports during her college days, the captain soon focused all her attention on painting. As a result she soon became head of the art department of South High School in Cleveland. She entered the Army in 1942.

"I've changed every one of my quarters into a temporary studio. When I finish a picture I either send it home or give it away. My friends always expect a painting for a Christmas present. Heavens, no, I never have sold one. In fact, I've never thought about it. I paint for fun. By the way, are there any mountain streams or lakes near here I could visit during the weekends?"

"Want to do some nature painting?" she was asked.

"Painting? Why no, I want to go fishing. I can paint at home!"

Mrs. Fryer To Head Tallulah Falls

Officers of the board of Tallulah Falls School were elected at the board meeting Thursday.

Mrs. R. C. Fryer Jr., president; Mrs. Ralph Butler, first vice president; Mrs. Oscar Palmour, second vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Harris, treasurer, and Mrs. Marie Anderson, executive secretary, were all reelected.

New officers are Mrs. T. A. Maxwell, third vice president, and Mrs. R. L. DeGolian, secretary of the board.

Trustees to serve for a term of six years were also named. They are:

Mrs. Robert F. Adamson, Mrs. Ralph Butler, Mrs. R. L. DeGolian, Mrs. Alfred Dorman, Mrs. R. C. Fryer Jr., Mrs. W. E. Harrington, Mrs. Willis F. Westmoreland, Mrs. Marcus Wood, Mrs. Wray Smith and Mrs. Marcus B. Calhoun, who fills the unexpired term of Mrs. Howard McCall.

K. J. Harris was reelected as superintendent and director of the school.

11 Sign Up For Youth Club Work

By BILL DIEHL

Johnny Desmond

The club will be part of a new radio show, "Phonorama Time," which will star the youthful singer. It will debut over the Mutual network Feb. 19.

The singer announced the creation of this club at a singing-autograph party in Davison's record shop Friday morning. The 11 teen-age girls came up to him after he finished singing to become the charter members of the club.

Eight had traveled from Ashburn. They were Diane Davis, Pat Kennedy, Sue McKenzie, Beth Kennedy, Julie Ewing, Nancy Raines, Gloria Ellis and Susan Perkins. The other three girls, all from Decatur, were Barbara Bennet, 950 Wesley Chapel Dr., Jeanne Clower, 910 Ponce de Leon Ave., and Shirley Hicks, 476 Elaine Dr.

Cigarette Price Fix Debate Set

The Georgia Supreme Court will hear arguments March 14 on the constitutionality of the state's cigarette and tobacco price-fixing law.

Fulton Superior Court Judge Jesse M. Wood held on Jan. 6 that the cigarette sales act is unconstitutional. He said that since the Supreme Court had ruled the milk price law was unconstitutional and only products affected with the public interest should be subject to price fixing, tobacco should not be included.

Wood said that if milk was not in the public interest then tobacco certainly could not be. A new system of fixing milk prices later was enacted by the Legislature.

Nurse Training Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—A bill to provide five million dollars a year for aid to states in training practical nurses and other auxiliary personnel was introduced today by Sen. Hill (D-Ala).

'Lifeblood' Donor Is Sentenced

Mrs. Rose McMullin, who declared she had been named "bravest woman in America for 1940" and given other honors for her activities as a blood donor, Friday was given a three - to - seven-year sentence in Chatham County Superior Court for filing allegedly fraudulent accident claims against two Savannah stores.

Her husband, William J. McMullin, was given seven years on charges arising from his part in the claims—the maximum sentence. Judge David S. Atkinson accepted pleas of guilty from both.

In both cases the McMullins alleged she had received injuries in falls, which the state said were faked.

Mrs. McMullin is believed to be the only living person whose systems carries antibodies for staphylococcus infection. She had been widely hailed in 1940 for volunteering blood for a poison victim in Hartford, Conn.

The McMullins were arrested in Madison, Wis., late last year after the courts here had returned an indictment against them.

Officials said the McMullins are wanted in 17 states for claims similar to those made in Savannah. Solicitor General Andrew J. Ryan Jr., of Chatham County said insurance claims investigators have estimated they took stores and other businesses throughout the country for more than $5,700 in fake claims.
